CARMEL MOURNED the passing this week of popular planning commissioner Terry Thomas, who died of unknown causes early Tuesday morning at Community Hospital. (Nancy Hills photo.)

Death of planning commissioner shocks city officials, residents

By DAVID LELAND

WHILE NO death can be considered timely, the passing this week of popular Carmel Planning Commissioner Terry Thomas seemed particularly harsh and unexpected.

Thomas died of unknown causes at 2:50 a.m. Tuesday, June 26, at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 60.

'He was only on the planning commission a short time, but he was wonderful. He didn't delve into the pettiness of personalities; (instead) he always grappled with the issues.'

— Diane White

Appointed to the commission last November, Thomas quickly gained respect from preservationists and builders alike as a thoughtful man who truly cared about the future of Carmel.

"He was his own person; he made decisions based on what the facts were and what was best for the community," said Carmel City Councilman Jim Wright, who recommended Thomas for the position. "He was a good friend and an outstanding commissioner — he represented all of us very well."

The suddeness of his passing caught friends by surprise.

The night before his death, Thomas had attended a meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District Board of Directors with Clayton and Linda Anderson.

"He was fine; it's a great shock to see someone and eight hours later they're gone," said Linda Anderson, a board member of the Carmel Residents Association of which Thomas was a member. "We (CRA) just felt that he was even-handed as far as the planning commission and always did his homework."

It is unclear who will replace Thomas on the commission, according to Carla Ramsey, chairwoman, who also mourned the loss of her peer.

"I was shocked and extraordinarily saddened to learn of Terry's death," she said. "I know what a tragic loss it will be to his family and certainly to our planning commission and the city."

Thomas is survived by wife Kay; daughter Carol; a brother Alan of Long Beach; and a sister, Patricia Ferguson, of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mayor Jean Grace told The Pine Cone that she had seen a bright political future for Thomas in Carmel.

"I had even been thinking, boy, here's some material for future councils, maybe even future mayor," said Grace, who appointed Thomas when Carmel Pine Cone publisher Bill Brown stepped down last fall. "If I were to hand over mayorship to someone I would have backed him."

Grace added that, during the past six months as planning commissioner, Thomas had

City goes to court July 2 over transient rental law

By NANCY HILLS

THE CITY of Carmel and its transient rental ordinance will be in court Monday, July 2 as the city and about 60 plantiffs face off over the new code that bans rentals of 30 days or less in the residential district.

The Carmel City Council approved the final version of the ordinance May 2, 1989, though the bulk of the new law was approved Dec. 6, 1988.

Realtors and second home property owners threatened to sue the city even before the first vote was taken.

Lawsuits and transient rental ordinances have gone hand-in-hand since the city first attempted to enforce such a law.

The city had instituted an ordinance prohibiting transient rentals in 1981 but the court found the ordinance unconstitutional because it violated freedom of association and privacy. The city did not appeal the decision.

The plantiffs in the current case, John W. Ewing et al vs. the City of Carmel, are basing their suit on the same arguments made in 1981 — that the law violates constitutional rights such as privacy and freedom of association.

Ewing is a San Francisco Bay area resident who owns a second home in Carmel.

When the council approved the final draft of the ordinance in May, the current plantiffs sought to charge the city with contempt of court, stating that the ordinance violated the court's 1981 injunction against such a law.

Monterey Superior Court Judge John Phillips declared that the two ordinances were different enough that the 1981 injuction did not apply to the new law. Phillips added he would not make any judgment on the constitutionality of the ordinance.

The 1981 ordinance applied to all zoning districts in the city while the new ordinance applies only to the R-1 district.

The 1981 ordinance also stated that anyone who occupies a house for 30 days or less is a transient, but identified exceptions such as "non-paying relatives."

The new ordinance identifies no exceptions and the transient designation is based on the rental of the property for 30 days or less.

Rentals of 30 days or less, the ordinance states, are the same as renting a hotel or motel room and is a commercial enterprise that is disruptive to the residential district.

The Carmel Planning Department estimates there are about 300 short-term rental homes within the city limits. During the December meeting, several residents complained that short-term rentals often had noisy occupants, people arriving and leaving at all times of the night and that the neighborhood never knew who belonged on the block and who did not.

Other Carmel residents testified that long-term rentals could be just as disruptive and that transient rentals nearby had not disturbed them.

Second home property owners testified

Water board shows unity, picks Ken Long to take Russell's seat

By DAVID LELAND

PENINSULA WATER board directors this week abandoned differences and made a selection on the first ballot to fill the seat vacated by the death of Bob Russell.

Picked to complete Russell's two-year term on the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board, which expires in November of 1991, was Pebble Beach resident Kenneth Long, 65, who brings to the board environmental concerns and a career rich in government experiences.

"I'm pleased that the board had confidence in me," said Long, who from 1947 to 1977 served on the Los Angeles Fire Department, the last two years as chief.

Boardmembers who otherwise differ on key water issues joined together in selecting Long on the first vote, in which he topped 12 other applicants.

"We wanted someone to represent the same philosophy as Bob Russell," said Chairman Dick Heuer. "Ken supports a new dam, as Bob did, and he supports the interim projects we've been working on, as Bob did."

Long was the first choice of water board members Dale Hekhuis, Paul Davis, Jim Hughes and Morris Fisher. He was the second choice of Heuer and 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman, both who backed former Monterey Peninsula water board chairman Patricia Bernardi.

"I'm totally confident he shares Bob Russell's views, which is key," said Dale Hekhuis, the swing vote, the day after the meeting. "He strikes me as a no-nonsense, fair, get-it-done kind of person with a great respect for the environment."

'The key issue is there are limited resources. We're in an era of limits and people have to recognize that fact.'

— Kenneth Long

When asked if he found it curious that he ended up on a voting side he doesn't normally find himself, Hekhuis said: "It's that way because I encouraged Ken Long to be a candidate. A new face on the board, at this point in time, would be helpful."

Hekhuis said he worked with Long several times as a member of the district's rationing committee and that he was impressed with Long's interview with the board. "He'll make an excellent director."

Heuer concurred with Hekhuis' assessment of Long, even though his first choice was Bernardi.

"He (Long) knows how to make tough decisions and stick by them," said Heuer.

Real solution

Dear Editor:

I have lived in Carmel since 1953. When the Carmel Hill freeway was proposed, everyone was against it. We all cried that it would rape the natural beauty of the area by destroying any of the old pines. We were not given a choice and the freeway was built. The state replanted the pines and the area is as beautiful as it was before.

Can you imagine what traffic would be like if instead of this section of freeway we would have a four-lane highway with a signal at the Pacific Grove cutoff entrance to Pebble Beach? It would be one hell of a mess with traffic backed up into Monterey in one direction and past Carmel in the other direction.

To widen Highway 1 is no solution to the traffic problem. it would be obsolete before it was completed. And what would happen to the traffic while it is being done All of the streets in Carmel would be subject to unbearable traffic jams.

Carmel Valley will continue to grow, and the traffic problem will grow right along with it. The only real solution to this problem is the Hatton Canyon Freeway. So, let's stop dragging our feet and get on with it. I trust that the state will do as nice a job as they did on Carmel Hill.

Burn Old Glory?

Dear Editor:

There has been a recent controversy over a person's right to burn the Star Spangled Banner. The U.S. flag is an emblem which represents our country. Our military troops — the Army, Navy, Marines, and Air Force, all give their activities in defense of our country and to keep the Star Spangled Banner flying on high.

And so — burning the flag is akin to burning up your country. Who wants to do that? — Enemies of our country.

All balled up

Dear Editor:

I feel that government has balled things up. The cities, the county and the peninsula water agency are all guilty of playing political games and don't seem to care about people. They have horsed around, and about all that has happened is a lot of complicated water rules and expensive bureaucracies.

What I am hearing from a number of business people and residents is that they would much rather have water by any means than to speculate on constructing a new dam. I am told that with a dam there would still be times of rationing since the two huge dams operated by the county for agriculture in the Salinas Valley are now dry. A smaller dam for the peninsula would be even more unreliable, unless it was five to 10 times larger and prohibitively expensive.

I am impressed by some of the writers of letters to the editor. They have convinced me that there is plenty of water and that all it lacks is good management. I feel it would take some sort of plan to have good management no matter who is in charge to manage, like the new executive manager at the water agency. It seems to me that the peninsula water agency has been winging it without an orderly sense of direction and that the cities and the county sit on their duffs without a protest.

The golf courses that use tremendous amounts of water during rationing are especially irksome, particularly about half of them which seem to have no ethics on water conservation with lush ponds and fairways which use drinking water.

The cities, the county and the peninsula water agency are also irksome for not treating and storing a small part of the urban rainfall runoffs for use in irrigation so we could have more drinking water during the summertime. At least some of the larger irrigated landscapes should use this kind of water for great savings of drinking water.

The letter writers have pointed out that the toxic contamination caused by urban runoffs now requires that they be treated for clean-up "under new rules." Since that must be taken care of, why should the water be wasted?

And why not treat recycled sanitation wastewater for irrigation or drinking? It runs all the time and there would never be a shortage, especially if the county health officials were diligent to require sewers in Carmel Valley and all over.

If more water is wanted, why not desalinate what is called brackish water or use the ocean for as much as we want. It has been pointed out that the costs of desalination are competitive.

A house on which you can add rooms as the family expands makes a lot more sense for most of us than an expensive mansion. The water problem is a lot more simple than most people realize by simply adding to the water supply only as we need it. For me that is the way to keep charge of the total dollar costs rather than paying for a dam that probably won't work out after using up all our money.

Partial showers

Dear Editor:

How nice it was for Mr. Moppa to respond to my "water letter."

Often I wonder if anyone ever reads these letters, but here is living proof they do. However his response was only vaguely complimentary, but I guess one can't have everything.

Incidently I am grateful to be consigned to Germany, not too bad, considering he could have dispatched me to that "other" place, down below, which incidently is where I usually hope folks will end up who have the temerity to disagree with me.

In the future, my plan is to heed the advice of Mr. Moppa, and accept the suggestions of the authorities, by taking partial showers, blow dry the dirt off my driveway onto the drive of my neighbor, and get up at midnight to water my few plants.

I do hope my next correspondent, if there is one, will put forward a plan to augment our water supply, rather than have us meekly submit to a plan of partial showers.

Donations at work

Dear Editor:

When you phone the SPCA of Monterey County Wildlife Rescue and Rehabilitation Center with problems with wild animals — your tax dollar is not at work!

When you take advantage of the SPCA low cost spay and neuter clinic — your tax dollar is not at work!

When you call SPCA on cruel treatment to the horse or dog next door and the Humane Investigation Department responds and impounds the animal — your tax dollar is not at work!

When your children attend SPCA classes on humane education — your tax dollar is not at work!

All of the above services are funded entirely by donations.

I live in Carmel Valley, which has a high population of domestic and wild animals. I know many animal lovers, and yet, only a handful give to the SPCA.

Now that the SPCA has financial problems, some of the above-mentioned services may have to be curtailed. What better time to make a tax-deductible contribution, no matter how small, to insure these excellent services do continue.

Ban on drilling praised, but some say it isn't enough

By DAVID LELAND

ENVIRONMENTALISTS EXPRESSED satisfaction this week with President George Bush's prohibition of offshore oil drilling along the state's coast, but stopped short of an overall endorsement of the Administration's policies.

'That's a good start. (But) we need permanent protection for the entire California coastline.'
— Karin Strasser Kauffman

In determining that environmental risks outweigh potential energy benefits to the nation, Bush's action postponed any drilling until the year 2000 and effectively approved plans for the Monterey Bay Sanctuary,

"That's a good start. (But) we need permanent protection for the entire California coastline," said 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman. "The Monterey Bay Sanctuary is an obvious starting point. It's the most delicate portion of the coast."

Specifics of a management plan, however, still need to be attended to.

"We have to work on the actual day-to-day management of the sanctuary so it gives us ultimate protection," Strasser Kauffman said.

Originally slated for a Christmastime release, the draft environmental impact statement and management plan for the Monterey Bay Sanctuary was stalled at the White House while Bush made his determination on offshore drilling.

Now, it is up to the National Oceanic & Atmospheric Administration, a division of the Department of Commerce, to release the document for public review.

'It is my hope that the 10-year delay along the California coast...will provide adequate time to study the impact of drilling and to provide permanent protection in sensitive areas.'
— Leon Panetta

"We're working as quickly as we can," said Mark Murray-Brown, NOAA program specialist. "We're gearing up here."

Once the final EIS is approved, NOAA will open a management office in the area and oversee the sanctuary.

After the draft EIS is distributed, at least two public hearings will take place this summer. Murray-Brown said it is likely that the meetings will occur in Monterey and Santa Cruz.

During that time, members of NOAA will consider public comment, which will be entered into the draft.

A final document will be compiled with another 30-day comment period. NOAA will then make its decision, which it then passes onto Congress for endorsement.

The governor of California also has the authority to approve or disapprove of any decision that takes place in state waters.

Rep. Leon Panetta said he believes that the entire state should have a comprehensive management plan, not just Monterey.

"The lack of permanent protection for other sensitive areas of our coast is disappointing. I am particularly concerned about the short delay provided for areas off Morro Bay and San Luis Obispo (1996)," he said in a prepared statement. "It is my hope that the 10-year delay along the California coast and the shorter delay elsewhere will provide adequate time to study the impact of drilling and to provide permanent protection in sensitive areas."

Strasser Kauffman said much of the credit for the offshore drilling moratorium goes to Panetta.

"This is a fitting tribute to the untiring work of Leon Panetta," she said.

MOST IMPORTANTLY now, environmentalists agree, are the boundaries that will compose the sanctuary.

A prime example of problems that can arise is seen with the Channel Islands Sanctuary off the coast of Santa Barbara, where 40 oil rigs exist on the sanctuary's border.

"A sanctuary must have boundaries that provide a buffer for oil leasing," said Dan Haifley, project coordinator for Save Our Shores, which is advocating strict controls for the sanctuary.

Haifley added that boundaries must exist outside the immediate Monterey Bay and include the area between Santa Cruz and Half Moon Bay, where several oil locations have been identified.

He also agreed with Strasser Kauffman that boundaries should spread south to Big Sur where sea otters need protection and underwater caves provide a home for marine life.

But unlike Strasser Kauffman, who is prepared to fight for southern boundaries, Haifley believes that Big Sur will rise above the conflict with little problem.

"Big Sur is too sacrosanct. Drilling in Big Sur would be tantamount to drilling in Yosemite," he said. "I think when the smoke clears, Big Sur will be fully protected — Leon (Panetta) will see to that."

Of more immediate concern are the westerly boundaries, which Haifely would like to see out as far as 50 miles.

As many as 1,100 tankers currently travel off the coast with no lanes to dictate their course.

Haifley added that the boundary should not be too far off shore, because it would be difficult to get equipment to the scene of a disaster or oil spill.

In the coming weeks, Save Our Shores and Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments (AMBAG) will be presenting a series of workshops for those interested in speaking

LOCAL ENVIRONMENTALISTS and some politicians are seeking to convince federal officials to push the southern boundary of the Monterey Bay Sanctuary as far south as Big Sur, citing a vast sea otter population and abundant marine life. All this comes in the wake of President Bush's announcement Tuesday of delays in any offshore oil development off the Central California coast and a permanent drilling ban in the sanctuary. City plans walkway party for July 4th

THERE ARE no fireworks allowed at Carmel Beach, but that will not stop the fun on July 4th.

The city has decided to throw its annual Carmel Beach Walkway party on Independence Day this year. The annual walkway party began in June 1987 when the pathway was officially opened to the public.

The party will begin at 3 p.m. Wednesday, July 4 at Scenic Drive and Eighth Avenue at Carmel Beach. There the march begins led by Nick Williams' Jive Five band and the local Boy Scout troop.

The walk down Scenic Drive ends at 13th Avenue, and the party will take place on the beach between 13th and Santa Lucia avenues.

The city will provide free soft drinks and two large barbecues. People must provide their own food to eat and barbecue. There will be volleyball games and other activities. Everyone is invited and asked to wear red, white and blue.

State officials assure work on Garrapata Beach is only cosmetic

By DAVID LELAND

STATE OFFICIALS last week assured members of the Big Sur Multi-Agency Advisory Council that work slated for Garrapata Beach will be solely of a cosmetic nature.

In other words, the state beach, located several miles south of Carmel on Highway 1, will be no more of a tourist draw than its current use allows.

"This is not a parking lot," said Hayden Sohm, spokesman for state Department of Parks and Recreation. "We're not contemplating anything like that; there's no intensification of use."

Cars will continue to park on existing turnouts along Highway 1.

The work, scheduled to begin sometime this fall, will designate a proper coastal access instead of a myriad of trails currently leading to the beach that is causing erosion.

"Current use patterns have resulted in a multitude of volunteer trails leading to Garrapata Beach," Sohm said. "These trails are impacting the vegetation and ruining the viewshed."

Revegetation and access improvements include:

- Repairing the existing fence line which parallels the highway.
- Designate pedestrian pass-through points on the fence line and construct one major trail to the beach.
- Establish signing at the entrance to warn visitors of surf conditions and a lack of lifeguard service.
- Re-establish native vegetation, such as Little Sur manzanita and seaside daisy, in areas currently eroded by foot traffic.
- Construct rock masonry stairs to provide safe access to the beach.
- Install a southern boundary fence.
- Replace current boundary sign designating the beach.

"These steps will provide a safe access point to this popular beach," Sohm said. "This area has experienced fatalities and major injuries due to falls related to attempts to get to the beach."

While some concern was expressed by agency members over signage, Sohm defended his department's decision to offer a state-of-the-art state park sign.

"There's still some serendipity when you don't have signs and labels," said Sohm, referring to visitors who may not know where the park's northern and southern boundaries begin and end.

After some discussion with agency members, Sohm said his department would welcome community ideas for sign dimensions.

City council meeting reset for July 10

THE CARMEL City Council's regularly scheduled July meeting has been moved back a week.

The city council's meeting for Tuesday, July 3 has been rescheduled for Tuesday, July 10 because of the Fourth of July holiday.

And because a large turnout is expected for the meeting, it will be held at the Carmel Woman's Club building on the corner of San Carlos and Ninth, across from the Sunset Center.

Bush praised for drilling ban

at the upcoming meetings.

"We want to make sure that people who testify are educated," said Strasser Kauffman, who also stressed the importance of continued public involvement once the sanctuary is in operation.

Haifely said the public should not abandon its involvement just because President Bush struck down offshore oil drilling.

"I'm glad we bought some time, but what the president has done is put the decision off for another president," he said. "He has left the door open and we want the door closed."

News notes:

Warning issued on fireworks

BEWARE, DANGEROUS fireworks will soon be showing up in neighborhoods, warns Bob Taylor, Ranger Unit chief, San Benito-Monterey Ranger Unit of the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CDF).

These fireworks are sold out of pickups, over the fence or between friends. When used they go bang, shoot balls of fire or fly high in the air, said Taylor. Unfortunately, they are very attractive to youngsters and some adults and are very dangerous when used.

Once launched no one can predict where a firework rocket will land. Many roofs of homes fall victim to these rockets each summer in California. Hands are maimed and eyes are blinded by these exploding fireworks. It is because of these dangers this type of firework is illegal in California, said Taylor.

"Users of these fireworks make themselves inescapably liable for damage to persons or property," he said. "We ask that persons seeing these fireworks being sold report the information to the Sheriff's Office or to CDF."

Community activist finds herself being judge for whole community

By NANCY HILLS

BARBARA LYSLE has already found that it's one thing to simply stand up and express an opinion and quite another to have to make the final decision.

As a new Carmel planning commissioner, Lysle is now the judge, a different role than the one she has taken over the years as an active Carmel citizen.

"I have to think 'If I was an applicant, how would I feel?' " she said.

In the past, Lysle explained, she would speak for either herself or the Carmel Residents Association, but now she must speak for everyone. As a Carmel Residents Association boardmember, Lysle said she attended most of the planning commission meeting. She has quit the CRA board to take the appointment.

BARBARA LYSLE has taken her place as one of two new members of the Carmel Planning Commission. (Nancy Hills photo.)

Lysle retired from Pasadena to Carmel in 1973 with her husband, Joseph, who died six years ago. In Pasadena, she owned and operated a lamp, lampshades and accessory shop for 30 years.

"That is why I think I can understand the problems of business people," she added.

Lysle said a commissioner should look to the future when making decision.

"I think we need to ask 'What will this look like in 20, 30 years?' " she said.

Her look to the future includes consideration of more than the buildings.

"I'm very much in favor of keeping upper canopy trees. I hope we can preserve the forest. Everytime I hear a saw going, I just about die," she said.

Lysle is in favor of reducing the maximum size of a house allowed on the average 4,000-square-foot lot, particularly to preserve the forest. Homes must leave enough room for the trees to grow.

"When houses are 3 feet away from each other, there is no room for a tree," she pointed out. "Just look at an area that does not have trees, and it has a different feel."

Design review is also an important element of the planning commission.

"I think it will be different in every case — beauty is in the eye of the beholder — but sometimes people can sit down with a few of the commissioners and come up with a better design, one that would relate to what is in the neighborhood," she said. "We don't want all Tuck Boxy looking houses, but I think houses, should be unobtrusive. I am a great believer in whatever Frank Lloyd Wright has done because he made his houses fit the terrain."

Though she came from Pasadena to Carmel, Lysle grew up in the San Francisco Bay area and spent many summers vacationing in Carmel. It was a tradition she continued with her husband.

"I always felt that when you came to Carmel, it was a place where you could put your car in the garage and never have to take it out — until you left," she said.

Lysle remembers renting horses at the stable on Ocean Avenue.

Now she uses her car more than she would like but still finds the town attractive and quiet, though changed.

"Gradually, there have been more and more homes built and more T-shirt shops and tourists, day tourists in particular," she said.

Quality shops are important to Carmel, Lysle said, and she would like to retain the ones that are here and attract more, but the planning commission is restricted in what it can do about that.

To stop day tourists, she said, would be impossible.

"That would be like telling me I can't go to France or England," she added.

Lysle is looking forward to her stint as a commissioner and was glad she was appointed.

"It is what I really wanted to do," she said.

When she was appointed, Mayor Jean Grace said that she believed there was an applicant ahead of Lysle, but agreed with the council to appoint her to the post.

"She was next in line and that was fine," Grace explained.

URGENT NOTICE!!!

TO ALL CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA PROPERTY OWNERS AND RESIDENTS

DO YOU WANT TO:

- PROTECT YOUR RIGHT TO REMODEL OR CHANGE YOUR HOME?
- PRESERVE YOUR PROPERTY VALUE?
- MAINTAIN THE UNIQUE CHARACTER OF OUR RESIDENTIAL NEIGHBORHOODS AND URBAN FOREST?
- SAY NO TO EXCESSIVE GOVERNMENT CONTROL?

IF SO, THEN:

- SIGN THIS PETITION TO MAYOR GRACE AND THE CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS, AND
- ATTEND THE CITY COUNCIL MEETING ON JULY 10TH
  On that date, at 4:00 p.m. in the Carmel Women's Club on San Carlos and 9th Avenue, the Carmel City Council will vote on a controversial amendment to the General Plan and a proposed ordinance which will:

1. PREVENT you from increasing your living space to more than 1400 square feet on a 4000 square foot lot. (Effectively, a two-bedroom home.)
2. INCLUDE a new, very restrictive, definition of Open Space that will render a vast number of existing homes non-conforming! If this happens to your property, you may never be able to expand your living space at all. *Not even one square foot!
3. LIMIT the definition of OPEN SPACE to soil and plantings only! A minimum of 45% of your lot must be in this category to meet the new standards. Stepping stones, decomposed granite, gravel, walkways, patios, decks, driveways are all classified as site coverage. Your home, parking area, and the above materials all will have to fit into 55% of your lot, or be deemed *non-conforming!

THE PROPOSED CHANGES WILL NOT SOLVE THE RECOGNIZED PROBLEM OF MASSIVE HOUSES ON SMALL LOTS. A poorly-designed 1400 square foot home can appear more massive than a well-designed 1600 square foot home.

THE PROPOSED CHANGES DO NOT ADDRESS THE NEED FOR COMPREHENSIVE DESIGN REVIEW. They will not preserve the character and charm of our residential neighborhoods, but may well lead to uniformity in design and setbacks in the homeowners' attempts to maximize human living space.

PETITION FOR ADEQUATE LIVING SPACE

TO MAYOR JEAN GRACE AND THE CITY COUNCILMEMBERS OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

We, the undersigned, urge the Carmel-by-the-Sea City Council to take the following action:

1. Implement comprehensive and consistent design review procedures to protect the unique residential character and the urban forest of Carmel, and prevent massive homes on small lots.

2. Retain 45% maximum floor area ratio for lot sizes up to and including 6000 square feet. (1600 square foot home and 200 square foot parking on a 4000 square foot lot.)

3. Use a reasonable sliding scale to determine maximum floor area ratio for larger lots.

4. Redefine "Open Space" to include a reasonable percentage of permeable materials such as gravel and decomposed granite and functional elements such as walkways and stepping stones.

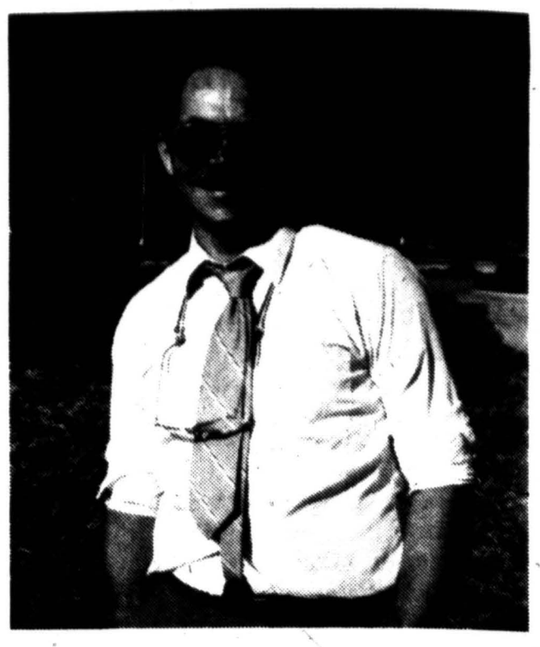
Valley Views

'Do you think the rural character of Carmel Valley will change if the Hatton Canyon Freeway is constructed?'

(Asked at the Mid Valley Shopping Center.)

'I am against the Hatton Canyon Freeway. I have always lived here, and I think it's going to be very bad for everyone. The aquifer will be changed because of it, and that will be the end of the quality of life we have here in the valley.'

— Flavia Edgren
— senior citizen, activist



'No question about it! Just in air pollution alone. The valley is an inversion area that will fill in with pollution which will stay there. Pollution increases lung disease and allergies especially with children. That decreases the quality of life.'

— Dr. Abraham Kryger
— 43, physician

'Yes, and I don't want it to happen. I just don't think it's worth it. I don't like waiting in traffic, but I'll put up with it. It will be a big mess especially for the people who live in the area of the proposed freeway.'

— Tawni Jones
— 30, waitress

'I don't think so. It won't take away from the overall character of the valley, but will allow for getting to your destination quicker. We live in a progressive society, and change has to come.'

— Ernest Townes

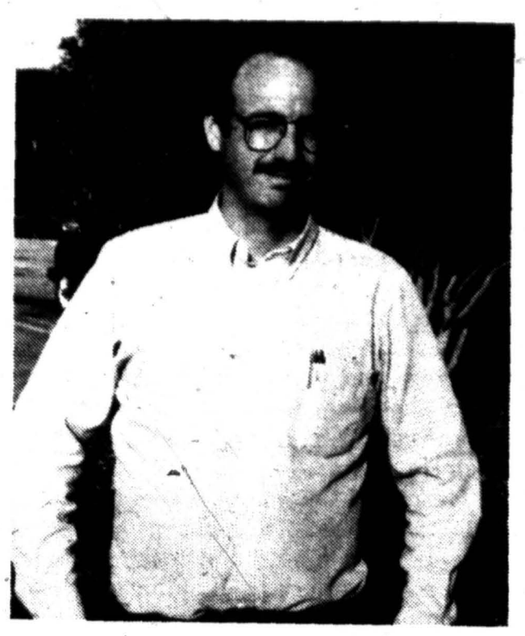
Valley Views

'Do you think the rural character of Carmel Valley will change if the Hatton Canyon Freeway is constructed?'

(Asked at the Mid Valley Shopping Center.)

'I think it would. We are already losing a lot of the wild areas. I know it's a lot easier said than done, but it's better to keep the wild areas and look for other alternatives.'

— Jenny Pearson
— 24, gallery manager

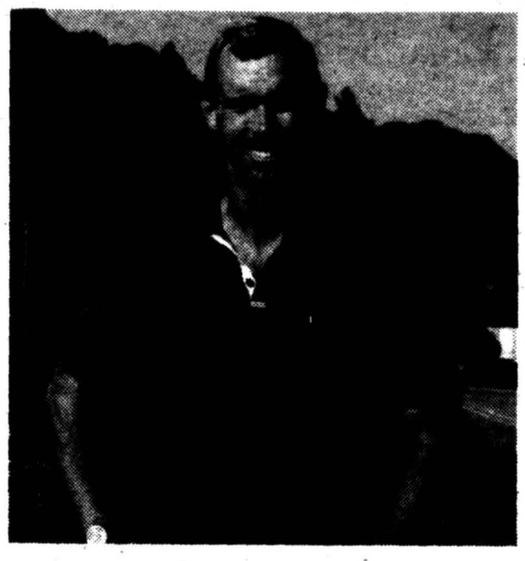


'Well, certainly. A freeway in a rural area will naturally change the landscape, but if the traffic increases as it has in the past 10 years, a freeway or some alternative is essential. It's a big 'if'.'

— Joe Tarantino
— 30, writer-editor

'That's a hard question. It's not predictable. I think it will change the mouth of the valley because there will be more traffic. I hope it wouldn't change the valley's character itself, however, something has to be done about the flow of traffic.'

— Patty Armstrong
— 42, teacher



'I like the valley the way it is. I don't want to see any change, and the freeway will provide a doorway for changing Carmel Valley Road to four lanes. This will encourage more building which means more people and eventually pollution. Then the quality of life lessens.'

— Bob Watts
— 43, instructor

Transient rental law in court

that they would financially not be able to keep their properties and occasionally use the house themselves if they could not rent on a short-term basis.

After the unanimous vote in favor the ordinance, both Mayor Jean Grace and councilmember Ken White asked that the citizens of Carmel stand behind the council's decision once it goes to court.

Anthony Lombardo, attorney for the plantiffs, said that the lawsuit would be dropped if the city changed the ordinance to prohibit either overnight or weekly rentals only.

"It is too bad that we have to try the same case over again. We offered to settle or compromise but they will not negotiate. This one is drafted in the same way as the old one so it sweeps in many constitutionally protected conditions," he said.

The plantiffs, led by Bruce Britton of San Carlos Agency, have maintained that it is not the monthly to two-week rentals that cause the problems, but the overnight and weekly renters.

Lombardo said if they lose, they will appeal the decision.

According to the ordinance, the property owner, the property manager that rents the house and the vacation renter can all be charged with an infraction and fined up to $500 a day for every day of the violation.

Carmel City Attorney Don Freeman explained that the ordinance "is a legislative act and does nothing more than emphasize the use of our R-1 district for single-family residential use only."

When asked if he was ready for the trial, Freeman answered "Absolutely. I am looking forward to it."

Ken Long named to water board

who, after the vote, said he backed Bernardi because of her proven experience. "He is also intimately involved with how government works in California."

Heuer said he first became aware of Long when two years ago he appeared before the board asking members to impose a moritorium on building until water supplies became available.

"He argued then, long before it became a public issue, that it wasn't fair to put everyone on rationing and make the public sacrifice while others are building new houses that further reduce our water supply," Heuer said. "He was one of the very first members of the public to speak out on this issue."

Heuer added that Long's beliefs will surely carry over in the matter of allocation, which calls for limiting new connections.

Earlier this year, Long served as a member of the Residents Water Committee, which presented a number of recommendations to the board.

Russell, who also served on the Residents Water Committee, died of liver failure on April 27.

LONG, WHO said he did not know Russell but agreed with him on most issues, may even ask for stricter water limits as the peninsula suffers its fourth critically dry year.

"I might even be tougher than him," said Long, who has served on the boards of Junipero Serra School and the Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula. "The key issue is there are limited resources. We're in an era of limits and people have to recognize that fact."

Long said that he was an advocate of water conservation many years ago in Los Angeles, at which time he abandoned the practice of drills using water from fire hydrants, which spilled water into gutters.

Instead, he took his men to a local reservoir, where the water was pumped back in after drills were completed.

Long's selection received the blessing of Russell's wife, Linda, who wrote a letter to the board.

"My greatest concern is to see this board continue to operate as the cohesive unit it has proven itself to be in the last eight months and to accomplish the goal of providing more water to this community," she wrote.

The political complexion of the board, however, will remain essentially the same, with the selection of Long.

The side favoring stricter limitations will now be composed of Long, Strasser Kauffman, Heuer, and Hekhuis. Hughes and Davis will be in the minority, with Fisher switching back and forth.

Hekhuis, however, said Long's selection showed there is unity on the board.

"The gratifying thing about Ken's selection is he had support across the board," he said. "He was either number one or number two on everyone's ballot. Tha means the whole board thought highly of him."

Supervisor seeks applicants for ag committee

FIFTH DISTRICT Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman is seeking qualified applicants who wish to serve on Monterey County's Agricultural Advisory Committee.

The committee advises the board of supervisors on items affecting the agricultural industry and provides a resource of agricultural information requested by the board on which future decisions may be based. The committee meets six times a year on the second Wednesday of the month at 3 p.m. in Salinas. Committee members must have the time available to attend meetings and participate on a regular basis.

No fireworks in city of Carmel again this year

THE CITY of Carmel-by-the-Sea once again will not allow fireworks as part of the July 4th celebration.

To prevent damage to private and public property or serious injuries to persons celebrating the Fourth of July, there will be several restrictions enforced, according to Police Chief Jack McGilvray.

• No fireworks will be permitted in the city limits of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

• Fires will be allowed on the beach until 10 p.m. No fires will be allowed north of the centerline of Ocean Avenue (the area north of Del Mar). The burnable material used in the fire shall not extend more than 2 feet above the base of the fire. Flames from the fire shall not extend into the air more than 5 feet from the base of the burnable material. No fire shall be built, lit, or maintained within 25 feet of any wall, vegetation, or combustible material not intended to be used in the fire.

PARKING RESTRICTIONS

• Scenic Drive: No parking or vehicle traffic throughout the day.

• San Antonio: No parking on the eastside from Fourth Avenue to Santa Lucia.

• Eighth Avenue: No parking west of San Antonio.

• Thirteenth ST: No parking west of Carmelo.

• Santa Lucia: No parking both sides from Camino Real to Scenic.

ONE-WAY TRAFFIC

• Scenic Drive: All vehicular traffic on Scenic Drive beginning at its southernmost point and extending to its intersection with Santa Lucia shall be one way northbound on July 4th, between the hours of 8 a.m. to midnight.

• Santa Lucia: All vehicular traffic on Santa Lucia beginning at Scenic Drive and extending east to its intersection with Carmelo Street shall be one way eastbound on July 4th, between the hours of 8 a.m. to midnight.

Santa Lucia will remain two way east of its intersection with Carmelo Street. Traffic westbound on Santa Lucia shall be diverted north or southbound on Carmelo Street.

Charges for water permits to be increased

STARTING JULY 1 charges for water permits from the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District will be increased by more than 4 percent.

Michael Ricker, the district's water demand manager, said the 4.2 percent increase is based on the April 1990 Consumer Price Index and is intended to keep the district's purchasing power constant. More than 80 percent of the money collected is targeted for construction of a new water supply project for the district, Ricker said.

Fees for a typical new home will increase by approximately $100. Charges per acre foot of water will be $13,529.07, he added. Water permit applications submitted to the water district by Friday, June 29 will be processed under the current charges.

Ricker said that all applications must be accompanied by a complete set of construction plans; concept plans are unacceptable, he said.

District permit office hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office is located at 187 Eldorado, Suite E in Monterey. For more information call 649-4866.

board of the CVPOA isn't fooled by Caltrans' statistics, smoke and mirrors show.

Caltrans' Greg Albright is also quoted with "...the Hatton Canyon Freeway is the least damaging environmentally."

WRONG, WRONG, WRONG. The proposed Hatton Canyon Freeway is the MOST environmentally damaging proposal.

What's worse residents of Carmel Valley and Big Sur will have the SAME or MORE traffic congestion than they have now!

Caltrans is legally required to tell us this on paper (in the Enyironmental Impact Statement), but apparently Caltrans finds the truth flexible when they don't have to sign the paper, just spout words of fiction that can evaporate with the wind.

There are so many holes in Caltrans' justification for a freeway in Hatton Canyon that you could drive the Exxon Valdez through it.

If a simple underpass at Carmel Valley Road and Highway 1 had ever been proposed, we'd be driving on it today.

Yes, traffic stoppages from Big Sur and Carmel Valley might still exist, the difference is they'd be small enough that we could tolerate them!

By the way, you missed the best headline: Rod Mills telling Caltrans, "We ARE the traffic!"

David Dilworth
Carmel

Indisputable evidence

Dear Editor:

The Carmel City Council now has a preponderance of indisputable evidence from political leaders and highly placed state and federal officials which explains why a project to widen Highway 1 is unlikely for the next 30 years.

Yet, the council heedlessly proclaims to support this improbable project, which is the same tactic employed over the past 35 years to both scuttle the Hatton Canyon Freeway and preserve the status quo of highway 1.

This "No Project" anti-growth philosophy which has been jammed down the community's throats for 35 years, has served only to jam the roads.

If the council truly believes that Highway 1 should be widened and accomplished in less time than it would take to build the freeway, then the community deserves to be told why evidence to the contrary is wrong.

The cliche that "The freeway will be tied up in court indefinitely" is an ill-advised anachronism. The state has the wherewithal and experience to convince the courts to expedite cases which involve the public's safety, health, and welfare.

Because authorities have made it clear that neither state nor federal funds will be made available, the community also deserves to be told how the council proposes to find a source of funds to widen Highway 1, or, why the council supports a project, not knowing how it will be funded.

Police log

CARMEL POLICE have renewed efforts to force habitual parking violators' cars off the streets, with owners facing stiff fines or loss of their vehicles by impounding.

So far, nine violators have been located totaling over $6,000 in 191 unpaid tickets — one owner had 49 citations totalling $1,505.

TWO VEHICLES were vandalized in the Monte Verde and Fifth Street area last week, with the matters curently under police investigation.

A 1985 Mercedes Benz was reported on June 22 as having scratches and other minor damage.

The second car, also sustaining minor damage, was reported on June 25.

A WETSUIT and surfboard totaling about $570 were taken from a Toyota pick-up parked near San Antonio Road and Ninth Street on June 23.

Aram Stoney of Carmel left the items unattached in the back of his truck and then went to the beach. When he returned both the wetsuit and surfboard were gone.

Stoney waited to report the incident to police until the next day, saying that he was late for work when he noticed them missing.

Suppporter of first Murphy move now on the other side of podium

By NANCY HILLS

ARCHITECT BRIAN Congleton is going from a position behind the podium to one in front.

As one of the chief movers and shakers of the First Murphy house relocation, Congleton has had plenty of time before the mike at city hall addressing councilmembers and planning commissioners.

Now he is a planning commissioner, his appointment effective June 7. He already has at least one planning commission meeting under his belt and is serving on the commission's resurrected design review committee.

An architect who has worked with both new structures and with preservation efforts, Congleton is enthusiastic about his new post and believes he can contribute something to the planning process.

"I think I have a lot to offer and a whole lot to learn," he said. "I think it is a two-way win-win exchange. The position offers me enormous benefits."

Kentucky native Congleton received his degree in architecture from the University of Colorado in 1970. He worked in Denver until 1985, with his own office from 1975 to 1984. The economy collapsed in Denver and there was a lack of work, so he came to the peninsula to work with a developer, Dr. Jerry Rubin. Once Rubin began to have legal difficulties, however, hard times fell on Congleton.

'I think I have a lot to offer and a whole lot to learn. I think it is a two-way win-win exchange.'

— Brian Congleton

"It was a real struggle," he said.

He is proud of finishing an apartment project on Soledad Drive in Monterey, a project that had to go through five backers before it could be completed.

But seeking work isn't the only reason he is here, he added.

"Anyone who has any sensitivity to quality of life knows why anyone stays here," Congleton said.

His work with preservation began in the mid-1970s in Denver, he said, and for 10 years adapting "rebuilds" (older structures) was his specialty.

"In 1985, I put that all away, but I still have a great love for it and a talent for it," he said.

Congleton said people should put aside fears that his background in preservation would prevent him from voting for any demolitions.

"In some ways I can't act on historic preservation in Carmel because I can't know what is historical until the inventory is completed. That needs to be done before we can take any affirmative action," he said.

Congleton added that "there is a difference between saving a house because it is valuable historically or architecturally and saving a house because that prevents two or three other houses from being built. The first is preservation, the second is land use," he said. Using "preservation" for land use decisions is wrong, he said.

On the current controversy over housing sizes, Congleton said he believed that the answer is not "quite as clear cut" as simply reducing the amount of square footage allowed on a 4,000-square-foot lot.

"I think flexibility is preferable," he said.

A little larger home with a "properly setback" second floor is better than a smaller one with an appearance of an "overly large building mass," Congleton said. Site conditions are also very important.

Probably one of the most important tasks of the planning commission is giving concise and timely treatment to an applicant, and for commissioners to be clear about their concerns.

"If (the applicant's) design is unacceptable to the city, then the applicant needs to know that and needs to know why," he said.

Working in California and this area has been a learning experience in many ways, he said, and has taught him a lot about about "the power that people have."

"I don't think you see the degree of involvement of the public in the development process in other parts of the country that you see here," he observed.

Congleton said he is "backed by a diverse number of the elements in the community" but no one group can expect him to always vote the way they want him to.

"I think I may disappoint any number of those diverse elements at any time," he said. "I don't believe any member of the city government should be known to be in someone's corner all the time."

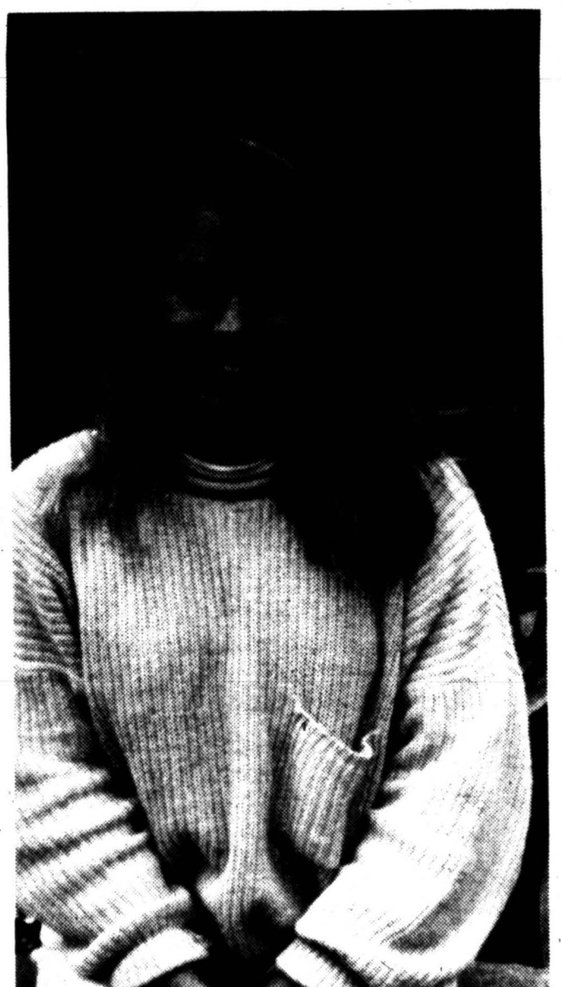
Carmel High School

Student of the Month

CARMEL HIGH School senior Josh Randall has been named student of the month by the mathematics department. Randall has excelled in a number of important mathematics contests, such as the Monterey County Office of Education Decathlon competition in 1988, when he won a bronze medal. He also scored first place in the American High School Mathematics Examination in '88, '89 and '90. Randall also scored in the top 10 percent in the prestigious Santa Clara University Mathematics Contest. Randall is also an excellent bicyclist. While attending school in Hawaii during his sophomore year, he raced on a cycling team, and has worked in bike shops for the past three years. He plans to go to Cuesta College upon graduation and then transfer to California Poly San Luis Obispo to become an architectural engineer.

Student of the month

CARMEL HIGH School freshman Garret King has been chosen student of the month by the Industrial Arts Dept. Jim Agan, head of the department, commended Garret for his competency in working with metals and wood. But, most of all, for his willingness to help out in the classroom. For example, Garret volunteered to construct a tool that serves as a handle to a crucible of molten metal. Agan added that Garret's "What-can-I-do-to-help" attitude is positive and encouraging to other students. Garret is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerald King of Carmel Valley.



Leadership material

CHRISTIN CLACK, a sophomore at Carmel High School (a junior in the fall), was accepted to be a participant in the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation's 1990 state leadership seminars. The seminars took place in early June at Pepperdine University in Malibu. A 4.0 student, Clack served as sophomore class president and is the daughter of Dale and Vicki Clark.

CHS officials laud '90 grads

THE ADMINISTRATION and staff at Carmel High School is more than pleased with the outstanding achievement reached by the class of 1990, according to Joe Feldeisen, assistant principal.

Scholastically, SAT scores were consistently above state and national mean scores, with 62 percent of the class named to the honor roll, with a grade-point average of 3.0 or above, he said.

Overall, 53 percent of CHS students achieved honor roll status.

Feldeisen added that the high school ranks in the top 100 schools in the state, with CAP scores of 96 percent in math and 98 percent in reading.

Translated, that means that 85 percent of the graduates have been accepted to major colleges, with seniors receiving more than $100,000 in scholarship funding.

Colleges welcoming incoming Carmel High School freshman include: Stanford University, Carnegie Mellon, Loyola Marymount, University of San Francisco, San Jose State, UC Davis, UC Santa Barbara, San Francisco State, Long Beach State, UCLA, Vassar, Pepperdine, Oberlin, Wooster, Cal-Poly, Humboldt State, UC Berkeley, UC Santa Cruz, Sacramento State, Cornell, Indiana University, Bates College, Tufts University, University of Redlands, Whittier, Sonoma State, Fresno State, UC San Diego, Chico State, San Diego State, Middlebury, Lewis & Clark and Pitzer.

WHY SO MANY VOLVOS WILL LIVE TO BE A MILLION.

For almost any car, 100,000 miles is a lot. But, 1,000,000? Astonishing as it seems, many a Volvo is purring along toward that awe-inspiring mileage. Why do Volvos perform so well, so long?

There are two reasons. First: Volvos are very well built to begin with. Second: Volvo owners know enough to insist their cars get regular service from an authorized Volvo dealer.*

Authorized Volvo dealers are better equipped to service Volvos of any vintage. They have factory-trained mechanics, Volvo diagnostic equipment, special Volvo tools and a direct pipeline to Sweden for the latest technical information. It all adds up. And what it adds up to is hundreds and hundreds of thousands of miles of trouble-free and very safe motoring.

When a Volvo is all Volvo, it works better longer. And retains more of its value, should you decide to sell it. That's why it pays to insist on genuine Volvo parts from an authorized Volvo dealer. Because your Volvo, too, could live to be a million.

Commissioner's death shocks city

endeared himself to city workers.

"The city staff and planning commission are devastated," she said. "They've told me, 'Terry Thomas is just so good as a planning commissioner.' He was thoughtful and said his opinions, but without being obnoxious or putting anyone down. I don't think it (his death) will sink in for a while."

THOMAS, A retired Proctor & Gamble chemical engineer, bought a home in Carmel in 1976 and moved here permanently in 1987.

Soon after taking up residence, Thomas faithfully began attending city council, planning commission and water board meetings.

He then became a boardmember of the Carmel Residents Association, expressing fears that the majority of building occuring in Carmel was taking place in residential sections of town.

Ironically, that stance presented Thomas his first hurdle when appointed to the planning commission, when then-Councilwoman Elinor Laiolo said his votes would be pro-CRA.

Thomas diffused the situation, having already resigned as a boardmember. He told The Pine Cone that he would vote against CRA positions "when they are not in the best interest of the city, as I will also vote for them when they are right."

As a planning commissioner, Thomas fought for more open space and less site coverage.

He was also a staunch opponent of the growing movement to demolish old homes and replace them with new ones.

He recently demonstrated this belief when he fought for the preservation of the Murphy House.

Planning Director Diane White lauded Thomas' style and straight-forwardness.

"He was only on the planning commission a short time, but he was wonderful," she said. "He didn't delve into the pettiness of personalities; (instead) he always grappled with the issues.

"He was considerate of applicants even when what they wanted to do was not within city code. He always responded politely; he was a real gentleman."

No formal services are scheduled for Thomas, interred at The Paul Mortuary in Pacific Grove. His widow indicated that an informal gathering may be take place in the coming weeks.

House approves funding for breakwater study

THE FISCAL Year 1991 appropriations bill adopted by the House June 19 for energy and water projects around the country includes funds requested by Rep. Leon E. Panetta for a feasibility study on an extension of the Monterey Harbor breakwater and a study of long-range water resource management in the Salinas basin.

The bill provides $210,000 to complete an ongoing feasibility study on extending the existing breakwater in Monterey Harbor. This was the amount requested by Panetta and by the Bush Administration. Last year, Congress approved $155,000, which is being used during the current fiscal year to continue work on the study.

An extension of the breakwater was authorized in 1960, and design and testing were completed in 1971, but the city of Monterey could not provide financial support for construction. However, the city is now discussing with the Army Corps of Engineers a 1,000-foot extension. Updated studies have been requested by the Corps to determine the need for, and feasibility of, an extension.

Panetta said the extension could protect the harbor against breaking waves. This would make it possible, he said, to provide additional berthing and off-loading facilities for commercial fishing vessels and processors, and would promote substantial growth in the fishing and fish processing industry.

The House also approved the $180,000 requested by Panetta to match funds provided by the Monterey County Flood Control and Water Conservation District for a three-year study to develop a long-range water resources management plan for the Salinas basin. The study would help to develop and analyze alternatives for addressing water supply and quality problems.

WHALES WERE ALMOST EXTINCT

The gray whales which annually migrate 10,000 miles from the Arctic to Baja California, past the shores of the Monterey Peninsula, were nearly extinct 30 years ago. Since they have become a totally protected species, estimates on the herd's total now range from 12,000 to 15,000.

June is 'Tom Cat Tune-up' month

To coincide with Adopt-A-Cat Month, the SPCA of Monterey County announces its second annual "Tom Cat Tune-up Special."

During the entire month, all male cats, whether adopted from the SPCA or not, will be neutered in the SPCA's low cost spay/neuter clinic for $15.

This discount is made possible through donations to the SPCA's spay/neuter fund.

It is necessary to make an appointment for such neuter operations by calling the clinic at 373-2631 or 422-4721, Monday through Friday, during business hours.

Laughs aplenty

AT THE Annual Luncheon of The Soroptimist Club of Carmel Bay members received some helpful suggestions from Dr. Elizabeth Blanchard of Stockton, such as: maintain your sense of humor, enjoy the job, laugh at yourself, keep things in perspective, have a childlike enthusiasm, don't be afraid to challenge tradition (if communist Russia can accept change so can we, she said), let prejudices go and take momentary emotional vacations.

It appeared evident that much of the advice is already in use in the local chapter. The Soroptimists seem to possess these qualities but it never hurts to be reminded. These business and professional women seem to be imbued with a sense of humor and do not hesitate to laugh at themselves.

For instance, during her mistress of ceremonies duties president Renda Miller said, "I was just married and four days after I married I became a grandmother (through marriage), and I'm falling apart."

Another example came when Leslie Bruhn presented specially decorated straw hats to Renda and all past presidents. They stood all in a row laughing together with their "PP hats" (as they called them), placed rakishly on their heads.

An honored guest, who is fun-loving and has a great sense of humor, was the famous Virginia Stanton. She gave "The Inspiration" and her message was, "Smell the melons. Smell the broccoli."

She explained that while doing marketing when she first moved here many years ago she saw Italian ladies pick up broccoli and smell it until they found a bunch that passed the olfactory test. Mrs. Stanton said, "I had never smelled broccoli in my life, but I found by doing so that it is worth the effort."

She then quoted her husband, "Bob said, 'If you don't enjoy what you are doing, why are you doing it?' " Her inspiring words ended with, "Look for the bright side. The upside — not the downside."

Dr. Blanchard announced after the installation of the 1990-91 officers that Soroptimist International will be accepting men into the clubs if they choose to join. Guest speaker Van Carter was one of the few males present in the Pebble Beach Room of The Lodge.

Mr. Carter, who is news director for KMST-46 television station, came here recently from Sioux City, Iowa where he won a couple of national news awards. He has three children and was a military officer before going into the news biz.

"I am delighted to be speaking to a room filled with ladies," he said smiling. "Usually, it has been a room full of men so this is a special pleasure." His subject was televised news and he implored:

"Please give the young reporters a few minutes of your time when they come to you. Give them a quote they can use and make them happy and their assignment successful. If you wish to say something 'off the record,' trust everyone one time. Don't feel bad about using the media, nobody else does."

In his firm commitment to making changes at KMST he said he has pledged more community service. When asked for specifics during the question-and-answer period, he said with plans still in the working stage he could not announce anything at this time.

A bit of Soroptimist history. When Lee Chamberlin started the local chapter in 1982 she said it was going to be first class all the way and according to governor, Dr. Blanchard, it has been. The 70 women in the local chapter are part of the worldwide membership of 80,000 in 60 countries. The first club was chartered in Oakland in 1921. At each meeting their pledge includes words like sincerity, joy, dignity, integrity and love. Backed by such dedication as that of Rhenda Miller in 1989-90 a check from the chapter was presented to Dr. Blanchard for college scholarships.

The optimistic Soroptimists are off to a great new beginning under the 1990-91 leadership of glamorous Kristina Pauling. Ms. Pauling's theme for the coming year is based on sharing Soroptimist ideas and titled "Communicating with the Community."

Other officers are president-elect Demi Briscoe, VP Judy Lofink, treasurer Susan Kendall, recording secretary Bernadette O'Keefe, corresponding secretary Yvonne McBride and partiamentarian Jane Ellerbe.

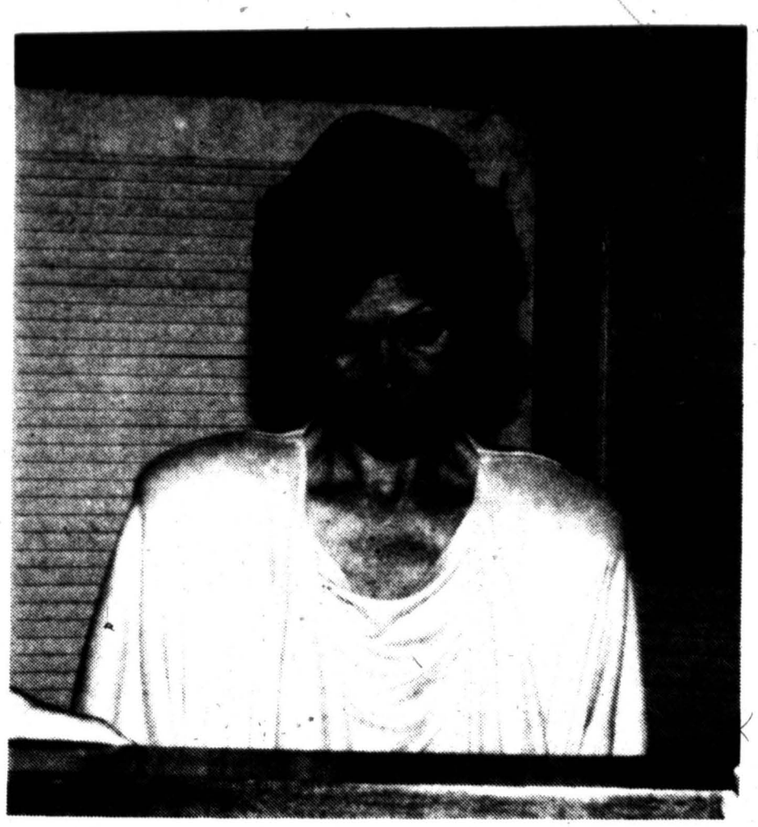
The Scotts Valley-based Responsible Hospitality Council (RHC) gave a party Monday evening at Doubletree Inn called "Summer Celebration." There was a lot to celebrate and it was a great party. I was there and still it is hard to believe all of the people RHC has brought together to make the decade of the '90s the decade of responsible hospitality.

The amazing part is that since it began only last September was to see so many hositality industry professionals giving time and getting involved in the efforts to accept responsibility in protecting the health, safety and well-being of their patrons.

"Summer Celebration Party" sponsors were Doubletree Hotel (where the party was held), California Restaurant Association (Daniel Barduzzi, president), Monterey County Health Department with Liz Stanley, S. Martinelli & Co. and others.

Ruth Vreeland, Monterey City Councilwoman, welcomed guests and presented a proclamation from the city, as did Dusan Petrovic for the county supervisors.

SOROPTIMIST ELINOR Laiolo welcomed special guest Virginia Stanton to the annual luncheon at The Lodge at Pebble Beach.



MISTRESS OF ceremonies and outgoing president of Soroptimist Club of Carmel Bay, Rhenda Miller, consults her notes during the club's annual luncheon last week. (Christopher Hulse photos.)

PENNY MORRIS, Soroptimist past president, pinned a corsage on president Kristina Pauling as DEmi Briscoe, president-elect looked on.

LEE CHAMBERLIN, program chairwoman for Soroptimist of Carmel Bay, with guest speaker Van Carter, news director at KMST-46 television.

PAST PRESIDENTS of Soroptimist Club of Carmel Bay: Lee Chamberlin, Judy Brooke, Leslie Bruhn, Duayne Ostergard, Penny Marshall, and Jane Ellerbe.

SUSAN KENDALL proudly showed off her son, Matthew Evan, who is only three weeks old and one of the few "Soroptimisters" at the luncheon, with Susan Henderson and Cheryl Pasquier.

"Many individuals and organizations have given generously to help make our communities safer during the five years we have been in Monterey County, said Oscar G. Garcia, president of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD). He and Alice Moe presented awards for exceptional contributions to:

Richard Stoddard, manager of Salinas Auto Center Towing Services for donating hundreds of hours transporting impaired drivers and towing vehicles to ensure safe arrival home during the past holiday season; Rick Williams for the Salinas Firefighters Association, which ensured the success of the Designated Driver Program.

Ginny Brown (Salinas California), Jim Mairs for KMST-TV and KSBW-TV for educational and safety awareness messages. Jonathan Saguil of Ramada Inn (Salinas), who volunteered time and facilities hosting "The Candlelight Vigil" (which remembers victims of drunk drivers — my son was one of them).

Mrs. Andrea Seastrand and daughter Heidi received the award for Eric Seastrand, the late assemblyman who submitted legislation to lower the Blood Alcohol Level to .08.

The judges' decisions on the non-alcoholic drink recipe contest were announced by Jim Peters, president of RHC and John Martinelli. Concoctions bore such exotic names as "Flora's Black Lace," "Frosted Apple Berry," and "Apple Blossom." Delighted winners were Jeannie Hurley (Doc Ricketts Lab), Vicki Walker (Doubletree), and Robbie Evans (Viva Monterey/Viva Seaside).

With health promotions a national issue and hospitality a major industry in our area, uniting health and hospitality professionals seems like a natural process. Helpful info is available from California Restaurant Association in Carmel; Beacon House in PG; Community Hospital Recovery Center; Monterey Police Department; and Friday Night Live: Monterey County Health Department, all in Monterey. In Seaside the Community Alcohol Center, and in Salinas MADD, California Highway Patrol and Steinbeck Treatment Center.

In light of the public's growing concern about the risks associated with inappropriate use of alcohol, RHC brings together hospitality professionals to formulate new community standards. They plan to broaden community consensus on the principles and practices of responsible hospitality. Ambassadors to speak to organizations and hospitality seminars are offered by RHC.

Hurray for the Responsible Hospitality Council.

With the proliferous party scene on the MP hosts and hostesses are always grateful for suggestions and new tips. And, what better teacher than Virginia Stanton, the Queen of Entertaining on the Monterey Peninsula.

Mrs. Stanton, our most creative and generous party hostess, author of A Guide to Successful Entertaining and former party editor of House Beautiful magazine has plenty of party info to share. And, share them she will, on July 26 at 10 a.m. at the Inn at Spanish Bay.

Thanks to the generosity of the Pebble Beach Co. coffee and Danish will be served before the lecture/demo, "The Art of Party-Giving." Champagne bubbles afterwards.

The Stanton Center benefits from the lecture and it is sponsored by the Monterey History & Art Assn. Send your $25 to the center, PO Box 805, M. 93942 by July 15. If you would like to reserve for the Luncheon that follows in the Bay Club call The Inn to reserve.

What do you think of when the word "learning" omes to mind? Books, of course. The 5th Monterey Antiquarian Book Fair is due at the Monterey Conference Center July 15 for one day only (10-5). No matter what your special interests you will surely find the books you need to complete your home library.

Books on architecture and art, bios and children's lit, cookery and classics, ephemera and Western Americana, history, music, travel and theater, science and religion, rare and out-of-print maps and antiquarian volumes all at reasonable prices.

To find out what San Francisco dentist Joseph B. Cole did after retiring, see "A New Life's Work" that opens at the MP Museum of Art June 30th. And, to enlighten yourself on the Wildlife & Wetlands of the Pacific attend "Tracks In the Sky" exhibit at the PG Museum opening the same day. If you would like to meet Tupper Blake and Peter Steinhart, attend the reception July 15 from 1-4 p.m. This is a Smithsonian traveling exhibit.

CARMEL YOUTH BASEBALL

By Mary Parsons

Pony action

WITH ALL of Carmel Youth Baseball's younger leagues having completed their regular seasons, focus is on the Pony Division (age 13-14), which plays not only within its own league but also against teams from Pacific Grove, Fort Ord, Marina and Seaside.

Seven games were completed the week of June 18, with the Mets trying hard to catch the league-leading A's. Mets' pitcher Evy Plata pitched an outstanding 2-1 win over the Tigers' Joey Bernhard; Plata gave up one hit and fanned 18 Tigers, while also hitting a double in the June 18 game; Jeremy Byrd added two hits for the Mets.

On the 23rd, the Mets won again, this time over the Padres, 16-3. Chris Hyndman had three hits, including a homer (with three RBIs), Plata hit three doubles, batting in 5 runs, and Ben Thompson was 4-for-4 including a triple and a double (with 5 RBIs); leading hitters for the Padres included Jono Spaulding (2-for-3), and doubles from Xipe Brooks and Aaron Hodge. Mets' relief pitcher Verin Batchev pitched well.

The A's, league leaders with a 4-2 record, fell June 20 to the Pacific Grove Giants, 11-5, despite two hits each from Michael Palshaw, Gianni Aliotti and Dustin Nagai (who also sparkled afield, with an unassisted DP). They recovered on June 22, however, trampling the Pacific Grove Angels 13-1 behind Justin Garza's four innings of hitless pitching; Garza also was 3-for-3 at the plate, including a homer, with ample hitting support from Gianni Aliotti (2 X 3 including a double), and doubles from Darren DeMayo and Chris Leonov.

Carmel's Padres earned a tough 8-7 win over the Red Sox on June 19, thanks to waiting out a bases-loaded walk in the last inning. Keet Brattin of the Padres turned in some fine plays at third base, while the Red Sox' Curtis Gilman shined in left field. The Red Sox rebounded with a solid 12-5 win over Fort Ord's Indians on June 23, thanks to strong hitting from Jaime Cosseboom (2 X 3 with a double and 3 RBIs); Brandon Glanville played well for the Red Sox in right field.

Also on June 23, the Tigers fell 10-3 to the Seaside Mets, in spite of key hits (2-for-3, with an RBI), from both Josh Bonifas and Joey Bernhard.

Score one for writers union

A FINAL contract agreement between the National Writers Union and Pacific Monthly has been reached, according to representatives of the magazine and officials of Local 7, which includes the peninsula, Santa Cruz and Salinas.

The three-year pact, which is the first of its kind in the area, generally calls for a specific payment schedule and minimum rates, submission requirements and a grievance procedure with the 33,000-circulation magazine.

"This contract is an important step forward for writers of our area," says Jonathan Drake, Pacific Monthly's editor. "We would like to see other publications in the area follow this example."

Negotiating the contract for the union were Steve Turner, vice president at-large, and Ray March, chairman.

The contract was ratified by a unanimous vote of more than 40 freelance writers. Nationwide the union has a membership of more than 3,000, with Local 7 boasting 70 scribes.

While we're on the subject... Ray March and wife Barbara Laiolo March tell us that life is just great since moving to their new location in Carmel Valley Village.

Not only have the public relations specialists set up shop outside of their home near Jamesburg, but they have also come out of the closet, so to speak.

For years, Ray, a Carmel native, and Barbara, who serves as editor and art director, have been generating special events materials for the Pebble Beach Co., such as the prestigious Concours d'Elegance magazine. Most people, however, did not know, or maybe didn't even care, where the prose came from — they just knew it was good.

Now the duo is avaiable for anyone who wants a clear, concise and professional message delivered to the public.

"We take our responsibilities seriously because we have the trust of our clients — which in many cases means helping raise money for local charities by developing a successful public relations campaign," says March, who jokes that they are just a phone call away. "No matter where you are, we're just 45 seconds by fax."

Eat now, pay later... That's right! By just signing your name, you can purchase your groceries with a Visa card at Safeway in the mouth of the valley.

Part of a pilot program aimed at measuring Visa acceptance in supermarkets, 14 Safeway stores will soon be accepting credit card payments.

"We're providing another payment option that will be an added service for our customers," says George Unti, senior vice president and division manager for Safeway Inc. "Today's technology makes it possible to expediently process a bankcard purchase which will be handled as fast as a cash transaction and faster than a check."

According to Visa, this is the first time the company has teamed up with a merchant and its bank — in this case Bank of America.

"The opportunity that supermarkets represent to the bankcard industry is exciting," says Joe Fontana, division manager for B of A. "We are pleased to be able to work with Safeway and Visa to increase payment options available to our merchant."

CBA date change, watch out... The much-ballyhooed CBA general membership meeting originally slated for July 5, has been moved back a week to July 12.

The topic of what is changing the face of Carmel will be addressed by a panel composed of Mayor Jean Grace, Planning Director Diane White, landlords Greg Kraft and Ted Leidig, Wes Stoddard and Eddie Johnson will represent business and La Playa Hotel manager Tom Glidden will moderate.

Members and public will have an opportunity to address the panel, so show up or shut up.

The date again, 8 a.m. Thursday, July 12.

The entree, please... The French Poodle restaurant in Carmel (Fifth and Junipero), has been awarded the 1990 Silver Spoon from Gourmet Diners Club of America.

The club presents the honor in recognition of the restaurant's contribution to fine dining. Members from nationwide take part in the selection by nominating their favorite restaurants.

Just give her the business... That would be Lori Lash, who has opened up Business Services at Ocean and Mission.

The company helps businesspeople control their paperwork and stay focused on more productive points. The firm specializes in bookkeeping and accounting, tax services and design of procedural systems.

Own the Fantasy of an Eternal Summer...

by Stepping into the Connoisseur's World and the Legend that is Dyansen.

There are few living artists who have endured the passage of time as that of BELA BODO. For more than three decades, he has reigned as one of the country's most favored impressionist painters, directly inspired by his childhood contact with such masters as Renoir and Utrillo.

Dazzling colors leap from the lush landscapes and garden scenes of Bela Bodo, bringing to mind the glimmering canvases of those Great Impressionist Masters who painted under summer skies in France a century ago. Born under an "umbrella" of talent, Bela Bodo has carved out a recognizable signature in the fine art world. Both an author of fine art and a published artist, he paints an eternal summer...the sun rising to its zenith...delivering sun dappled paths, sweetly scented gardens, and wind-kissed foliage.

Offering a style unlike any other living impressionist painter, Bodo combines the svelte look of the romanticists with the spontaneous appeal of the fauvists and divisionists. No less than 18 pure colors grace his palette. This allows for a staggering number of color combinations and color effects.

Having studied with such noted professors as — Barcasy, Szony, and Szalai, as well as Hungary's foremost artist, Istvan Csok, Bela's refined and time-tested talent has won the hearts of collectors.

Maintaining a distinct European feeling, Bodo's art is inspired by, and created with the most precious commodity — a gifted hand. Bringing diversity and learned techniques to the canvas, he imbues each scene with the passion and beauty of an eternal summer...

Discover Bela Bodo...for this is your moment to be a fine art connoisseur!

Seniors program needs participants

IN SEPTEMBER 1987 the Carmel-by-the-Sea Police Department began a program to benefit senior citizens of the community in two ways.

First; senior citizens who live alone and are often "shut-in" their residences with little or no contact with friends or relatives, can be provided with the security of knowing that someone does truly care about their welfare. Also, those concerned with their physical well-being will have someone to check on them daily.

Second, seniors interested in participating in some type of community program will be able to work with those in their own peer group by volunteering to place these daily telephone calls to the recipients of the program.

Currently, the department has a full staff of volunteers, however, anyone wishing to be placed on an alternate list to fill in when another caller is unable to make it or is away on vacation, is encouraged to call for information.

Anyone living alone, whether concerned about their health or not, and all those seniors wishing to make new friends or just have the opportunity to talk with someone new each day is encouraged to participate in this program.

Telephone calls are made daily by a volunteer beginning at 9:30 a.m. No participant is ever restricted to their home; they need only contact the police department in advance if they plan to be away during the time the calls are placed to avoid any confusion. If someone fails to answer their telephone, a patrol unit is sent by to conduct a welfare check at the residence.

In addition to these daily telephone "visitations," social events are also planned periodically as well as home visitations upon request.

Anyone interested in becoming a part of this program should contact Desk Officer Cathy Dampier at Carmel Police Department, 624-6403.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN NAME FARR "LEGISLATOR OF THE YEAR"

The California Federation of Business and Professional Women gave the first "Legislator of the Year" award to Assemblyman Sam Farr (D-Santa Cruz/Monterey) for his legislative efforts on behalf of working women.

Farr was honored by the award and attributed his success to the hard work of his employees.

"This award speaks to the professionalism and dedication of my staff to serving the citizens of California," he said. "I have always believed in giving women the opportunity to succeed and it has never failed me. I have the best and the brightest staff."

Twelve of Farr's 17 employees are women. Farr's chief of staff, capitol office coordinator, chief committee consultant, and three field representatives are all women.

When giving the award, the organization cited Farr's commitment to addressing the concerns of working women in a rapidly changing workplace environment. Among the issues that Farr has supported are pay equity, childcare, and assistance for women-owned businesses.

Farr commended the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's efforts to improve understanding of the needs of all working women. "BPW is on the forefront of the new American economy, an economy that rewards commitment, integrity, creativity, and dedication to getting the job done, regardless of gender. For that, I applaud the activities of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women."

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT SET FOR CARMEL

On the weekend of June 28-July 1, what has become a major event in girls' softball on the peninsula, the Fifth Annual Invitational Softball Tournament for the Central Coast Girls' Softball League (CCGSL), Major Division (Ages 13-16), will be held at Larsen Field on Rio Road in Carmel.

In addition to seven local teams from the CCGSL (Carmel, Fort Ord, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Seaside, Marina and Toro Park), a team from West Valley (San Jose area), will also participate.

The tournament opens Friday evening and will begin with divisional play, during which each team will play a round-robin schedule with the other teams in its division. Single-elimination playoff games will begin on Sunday, July 1.

Previous winners have been Sunnyvale (1986); Monterey (1987) and Toro Park (1988 and 1989).

TOURNAMENT TO BENEFIT SIX CHARITIES

Six charities on the Monterey Peninsula will benefit from the ninth annual House Open tournament to be held on Friday, June 29.

The event is sponsored by the Carmel Board of Realtors and its affiliates, including title companies, lenders, contractors, builders, and attorneys. It is open to anyone who wants to play golf or tennis, or simply to enjoy the dinner-dance that will follow.

Golf will be at Rancho Canada Golf Course in a "scramble" format, while tennis will be at the Hyatt Regency Tennis Center, using a "social round robin" format. Both tournaments will be followed by a dinner-dance at Rancho Canada.

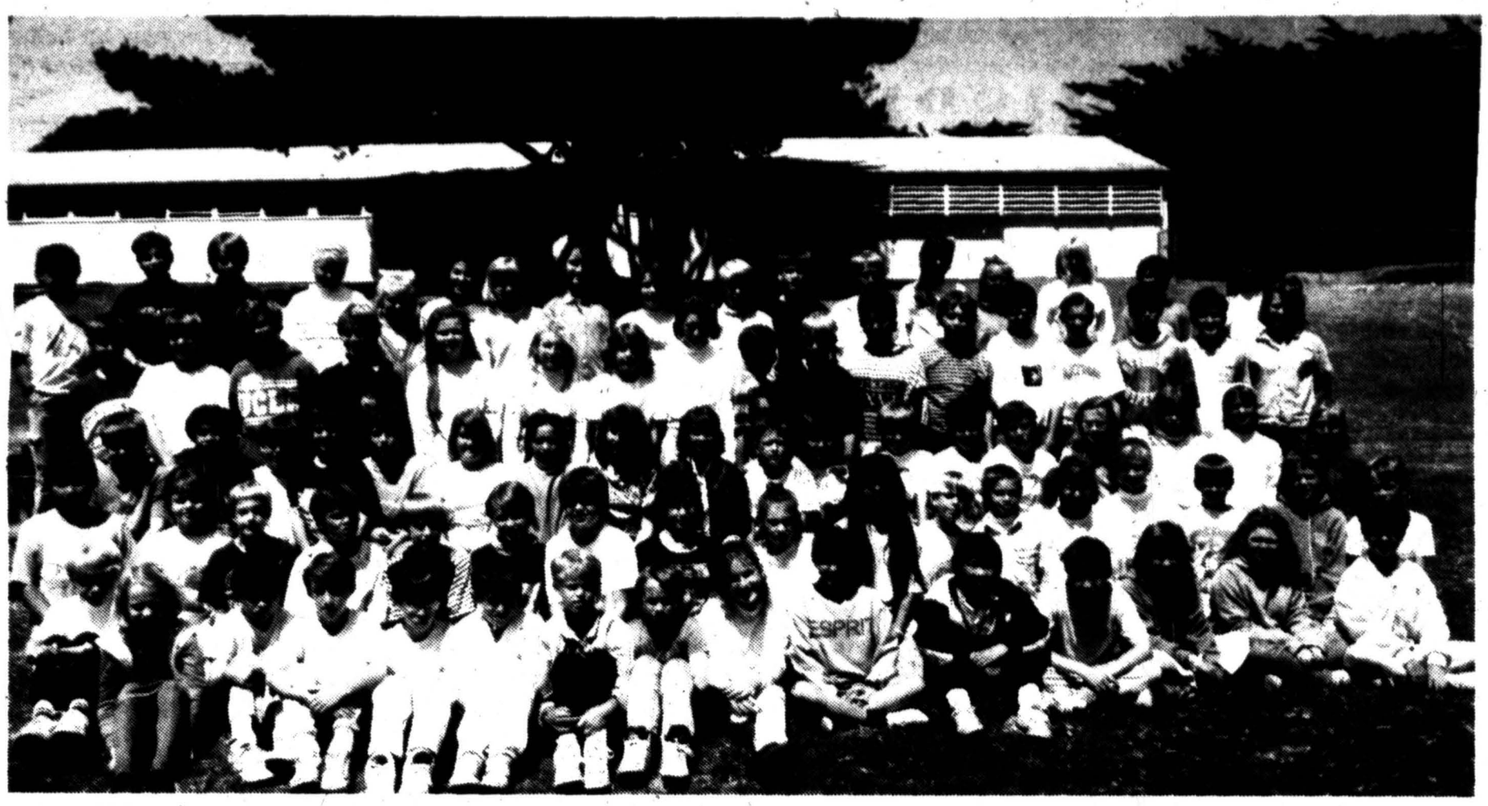
The entry fee for golf is $95, and for tennis the fee is $60. For those wishing to attend only the dinner, the fee is $30.

The six charities to benefit from the House Open are: Monterey County Special Olympics, Family Resource Center, Alliance on Aging, Friday's Child, Monterey County AIDS Project, and Suicide Prevention Center.

For ticket information, call chairman Dick Schofield, Independent Realty, 625-4100, or Dana Booth, Founders Title, 625-3880.

CARMEL VALLEY MAN NAMED COACH OF WESTERN SYNCHRONIZED SWIM TEAM

Donn Squire (of Carmel Valley), coach of the award-winning Cypress Swim Club, has been selected as one of two coaches of the West Zone Synchronized Swimming squad for the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival to be held July 1 through July 8 in Minneapolis, Minn. The other coach selected for the West Zone is Michele Costanza of the Santa Clara Aquamaids.



Glad grads

MEMBERS OF the fifth-grade graduating class at Carmel River School included the following students: Kathy Eyerman: Sebastian Becker, Arianne Crawford, Rushad Eggleston, Kimberly Eikenberry, Domenico Garneri, Erik Gilliland, Kevin Hale, Bryan Jones, Vicky Korper, Megann Leen, Laura McGowan, R.J. Minard, Christopher Mouton, Dylan Pappas, Damon Rutherford, Ruben Santillan, Misty Schuh, Hannah Pacey Schultz, Brittany Spellman, Chris Spilfogel, David Spilfogel, Jordan Stiles, Dora Swearingen, Ryan Travaille, Jason White, Annie Wilson, Lilly Woytak, Michael Yee, Nathan Zarum; Patrick Allan: Aaron Baker, Matthew Borek, Alexis Brooks, Chelsea Brown, Cody Clinton, Lynn Damiano, Peter Dimitrakopoulos, Mieke Fortrie, Yesenia Garcia, James Glazebrook, Michaela Hill, Rebecca Jamieson, Robert Jaques, Marc Jolley, Parker Jones, Marina Kanafsky, Allison Kistenmacher, Lee Krasnow, Gregory McKillop, Daniel Palshaw, Carey Parker, Rynette Patalsky, MacKenzie Patterson, Madeline Pettit, Ryan Santillan, Heidi Crowley-Sutton, Ruesslan Ushakoff, Jason Waller; Mary Ann George: Eric Bailey, Ryan Bailey, Christopher Capestro, Tim Crowley, Kim Dickerhoof, Shannon Dougherty, Jenny Elliott, Patrick Foudy, Thomas Gerken, Tiffany Horn, Melanie Hudson, Brian Huntington, Atsuhito Ito, Sarah Jaster, Lacey Langston, Elizabeth McVey, Erin Miller, Steven Moran, Kristofer Pallastrini, Lina Rahmati, Donovan Reade, Nicole Robinson, Joshua Santillan, Britta Sinotte, Timmy Stiles, Whitney Waldroup, Susan Webb, Adam Zerbe, Lindley Zerbe. (Marianne Mangold photo.)

Cypress Swim Club member Heather Pease (also of Carmel Valley), has also been named to the 10-member contingent of elite athletes from the West Zone. At 15, Pease is the youngest synchronized swimmer in the country to qualify for the Olympic Sports Festival, and is the top-ranked competitor under the age of 18 in the nation today. She will represent the West Zone in both the team competition and as one of the three designated soloists.

For Squire, who was recently named the "Outstanding Developmental Coach in the United States" by United States Synchronized Swimming, Inc. (USSSI), this will be his first coaching assignment at the Olympic Sports Festival, although he has officiated as a judge at past festivals.

"I'm really looking forward to it," he says. "Coaching a club as small as Cypress, we are pretty much limited to solos, duets, and trios, so the chance to coach a full team of elite athletes will be both exciting and challenging. It will be fun for Heather, too, to swim a team routine since she hasn't had the opportunity to do so since she was a 10-and-under."

Extensive live television coverage of the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival will again be provided by ESPN.

Teams of students jumped in relays for three hours, raising money from sponsors for every minute they jumped. Greenfield Elementary School, under the guidance of teacher Joe Braff, raised a record high of $7,806.53.

MST RECEIVES SAFETY AWARD

Monterey-Salinas Transit (MST) recently received bus safety recognition from the American Public Transit Association (APTA). The APTA Safety Award Competition's goal is to publicly acknowledge those transit systems which have superior safety records and have demonstrated excellence in their safety programs.

MST was rewarded for fine performance in 1989 for improving both quantitative and qualitative safety aspects as compared to the two preceding years. As a result of this performance, APTA presented MST with an Improvement Certificate.

MST General Manager, Frank Lichtanski, noted that "MST has progressed during the past few years in maintaining a good bus safety record. Thanks to our operators, mechanics and passengers, we are able to continue to pursue this safe direction." He continued by saying, "As a self-insured transit provider with this recognized safety record, we continue to provide accountability to local taxpayers."

MST regularly schedules employee safety training courses coordinated by a specially-trained staff person. Additionally, MST frequently presents operator update training.

AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION FORMS MONTEREY PENINSULA BRANCH

John Gibbons, chairman of the American Heart Association's Central Mission Trails Chapter, has announced the formation of a Monterey Peninsula branch. James R. Valentine, executive director of The Park Lane, A Classic Residence by Hyatt in Monterey, will serve as the branch's president.

With the branch's operational year beginning on July 1st, Valentine is looking forward to getting underway: "Dedication and hard work by each of the board members and the many volunteers will make this a successful inaugural year."

The Central Mission Trails Chapter has charged the Monterey Peninsula branch with sponsoring peninsula-wide educational programs and fund-raising activities to combat cardiovascular disease.

"Our primary focus will be on education and prevention. We're targeting young people by helping them to develop a diet and exercise regimen that will minimize the risk of cardiovascular disease," said Valentine. The branch is hoping to bring 4,000 new grade school students and their teachers into the American Heart Association program this year.

This will also be the first year that local efforts will include reaching out to junior high school students and their teachers. Local fund-raising events will include: a celebrity waiter dinner, Flowers Straight from the Heart, Jump Rope for Heart, a business campaign, and tele-pledge campaigns.

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

The real prize in life

From The Carmel Pine Cone
June 17, 1982

I go to the cinema about once a year. Last month, on the recommendation of the Monterey Peninsula Ministerial Association, I went to see the English picture Chariots of Fire. I presumed it would be a "dog," but to my surprise and delight, it proved to be a low-key masterpiece.

It is the story of two Cambridge University students, both runners, and of their striving to make the British tean for the 1924 Olympic Games in Paris. One was a charming and talented Jew, who strove to win to prove his superiority over the establishment who he felt held him in contempt.

The other was a Scot who planned to become a Church of Scotland Missionary in China, who ran for the glory of God. He refused to run on Sunday. He placed his convictions above Great Britain, his desire to win and his inevitable fame. He made a deliberate choice and he placed the observance of his religion above the almost fanatical and chauvinistic supremacy of sport.

A few days after I saw the picture, it received an Oscar as best picture of the year. It pleased me when I heard that Pagan Hollywood endorsed my judgment and chose to honor a clean, well-told story about intangible goals — in other words, a story about real love.

Oh Lord, help us to set our goals and to keep our principles and not to twist or bend our commitments. When we rationalize we soon compromise, both our love of You and our love for our neighbor. Love is a strange misunderstood word, which comes from the Latin delego, to choose. Choice means to opt to live morally, and not to deviate one iota from our standards. Love demands that hour by hour, day by day, we sacrifice our selfish and personal interest for our final goals. We will be judged by love, not so much in what we do, as on how much love we put into doing it.

Give us oh Lord, the strength not to shuffle along nor to amble, not even to trot nor job, but to run all out in life's Olympics. The prize is better than a gold medal or an Oscar. We have been searching the wrong lists for our world heroes — Lord, let's look at You for a change. Amen.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

At least one in five mature Americans takes escorted tours and the percentage is likely to grow, according to a survey of people age 50 or over, by the National Tour Association. The five most popular destinations are natural wonders and national parks, historical sites, beaches and other warm weather locations, fall foliage sightseeing, and sites of special events and festivals. Cost and climate are the two leading influences in choosing destinations. Forty-six percent prefer to travel to places they have never visited, while 33 percent return to favorite locales.

TheatreFest stages a summer's worth of shows

By ANNE PAPINEAU

THE LOGISTICS of assembling Monterey Bay TheatreFest, from costuming dozens of players to putting up one Big Top tent, might intrigue a

ARTS & LEISURE

P.T. Barnum. Actually, the whole thing is master-minded by one Stephen Moorer, co-founder of the GroveMont Theater Arts Center and TheatreFest.

"It's gotten, I won't say easier, but there are far fewer surprises," muses Moorer.

The dust has settled in the Big Top, for example.

"This year we covered the entire floor with a layer of plastic, then a layer of carpet, then artificial turf. Our dust problem has been solved," he explains.

For the uninitiated, Monterey Bay TheatreFest offers a summer's worth of live theater, opera, farce, stage combat and even fairy tales to be enjoyed by both children and adults. All is presented, much of it free of charge, in the environs of the Custom House Plaza in Monterey. There are three TheatreFest settings: the Main Stage, the Memory Garden beside Pacific House, and then there is the Big Top tent. The tent is the setting for the "superproductions," musicals for which there is an admission charge.

"We're offering 11 shows this year. Nine of them are free," Moorer says.

TheatreFest is categorized as an outreach program of the GroveMont Theater Arts Center, based in New Monterey. In its seventh year, TheatreFest has achieved the distinction of being the most attended cultural event in Monterey County (more than 60,000 last year).

But its co-founder describes TheatreFest as "great fun."

"Nobody does Plautus anymore," Moorer says of the TheatreFest staging of The Swaggering Soldier. Plautus, the Roman playwright, created this wild farce in ancient times. Directed by Marcia Hovick of the Staff Players Repertory Company, The Swaggering Soldier can be viewed at 3 p.m. weekends in the Memory Garden located behind Pacific House. And admission is free.

"We hope to get children hooked on live theater early. Then they'll turn into theater patrons the rest of their lives," Moorer exclaims. So there's a method to his madness.

"And it's a way to introduce thousands of people to GroveMont. If 1 percent of those 60,000, that's 600, end up back at a GroveMont show, that's building up our audience," he asserts.

TheatreFest also supplies multiple opportunities for local performers and theater technicians to flex their muscles.

"This offers local actors a chance to do the classics during the summer," Moorer says. "As far as ongoing events, the classics are pretty much ignored during the summer season. They're not sell-able."

TheatreFest owes its existence to many sources, both human and organizational. The event receives funding from local foundations, plus the City of Monterey, Monterey County Cultural Council, the Monterey Opera Association, Monterey Peninsula College and the State of California.

On-site concessions, which have been expanded this year, also boost TheatreFest.

"You can order a full menu now," Moorer notes. "We have seafood, kebabs, soups, meals for children, in addition to regular concession fare."

Three foundations supplied matching monies so that TheatreFest could purchase a tent in which to stage its musicals. This year the musical line-up is Little Shop of Horrors and Man of La Mancha. These are staged in cooperation with the Fort Ord Cabaret Theater, and admission is $5 to $10.

The new tent provides quite a contrast to the rental tent used for two previous seasons.

"It's bright, white, brand new and shiny," Moorer proclaims. "We're saving $7,500 a year in rental fees. Over 10 years, we will have saved quite a bit of money. The tent will be up twice as long this summer. I see the tent having an even longer season some day."

A complete schedule of TheatreFest events is published in the "On Stage" section of this newspaper.

Substantial talent and funds have gone into the 1990 TheatreFest. Moorer seems unfazed by the pace.

"It's an incredible amount of work, but a known quantity by this time. It's great, it's fun, this festival atmosphere."

JOHN FARMANESH is the man behind the mask in The Forced Marriage. This classic farce by Moliere is presented in the Memory Garden behind Pacific House.

MARK HECKMAN, Julie Hughett and Kevin Hanstick distinguish the cast of the Fairy Tale Theater staging of The Emperor's New Clothes, presented free on the Main Stage at Monterey Bay TheatreFest.

THE CRAZED philosopher comes to life in the person of Michael Jacobs, in the TheatreFest staging of The Forced Marriage by Moliere.

SEYMOUR (Mark Heckman) finds his true love in Audrey (Sue Fishkoff) in Little Shop of Horrors, staged in the "Big Top" tent on top of Fisherman's Wharf, Monterey.

Master guitarist Tom Smith performs instrumentals

PAINTING "musical pictures," guitarist Tom Smith will perform in concert Friday, June 29 at the Cherry Foundation.

GUITARIST TOM Smith will perform in concert Friday, June 29 at the Cherry Foundation. Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are $7 general, $6 for students, seniors and the military. For information, call 624-7491.

On the reputation of one solo album and more than 20 years of touring, the Pasadena-based Smith has established himself among the handful of top acoustic guitarists in the United States.

Performing guitar and banjo instrumentals, Smith leans towards the John Fahey/Leo Kottke schools of music, making liberal use of open tuning and bottleneck guitar techniques for his performances.

While many of Smith's tunes have a stream-of-consciousness feeling, they are in fact tightly designed pieces, sometimes suggesting classical origins.

Smith's performances take audiences on a creative tour of the imagination, evoking images of dancing leprehcauns to rose-scented images of evenings in Spain.

Since he began performing in 1966, Smith has performed in 30 states and three countries. His musical career has taken him from coffee houses to concert halls and festival audiences of 10,000 people.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are $7 general, $6 for students, seniors and the military.

The Cherry Foundation is located at Fourth and Guadalupe, Carmel. For reservations, please call 624-7491.

Classical and jazz recitals slated at Hidden Valley Theater

A SOLO flute recital and a concert featuring jazz flute and piano are in the offing at Hidden Valley Theatre in Carmel Valley.

He has performed with the London Symphony and the English Chamber orchestras, recitalized in the Mostly Mozart Festival in New York City, and made 15 solo recordings. Wilson appeared jointly with Jean-Pierre Rampal, James Galway, Jesse Norman and Frederica von Stade.

Lisa Emenheiser, a pianist with the National Symphony Orchestra and a member of its 20th Century Consort, makes frequent appearances at Kennedy Center in WAshington, D.C. She will return to Hidden Valley for performances with the Consort on Aug. 2 and 4.

Participants of the Ransom Wilson Flute Master Class offer a recital with Emenheiser as accompanist at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 28, in Hidden Valley Theatre.

The concert will follow Hidden Valley's Annual Salmon Barbecue served at 5:30 p.m. by Hidden Valley chefs Owens "Smitty" Smith and Carl Shadwell.

Ryerson's credits include performances with Lou Donaldson, Stephane Grappelli, Chico Hamilton and Clark Terry. A veteran of the European jazz scene, Loos has recorded seven albums in his own name. He has also played with Johnny Griffin, Chet Baker and Toots Thielmans.

Tickets for the Fourth of July concert are $10 each and Salmon Barbecue reservations are $15 per person. Both are available through Hidden Valley Box Office, 659-3115. Jazz concert tickets will also be available at the door.

Horticultural hijinks

WHAT IS IT about this quite silly and somewhat amateurishly written tale that people relate to? I'm talking about Little Shop of Horrors, which is playing under the Big Top in Custom House Plaza in Monterey. One of the headline attractions of GroveMont Theater's TheatreFest, Little Shop... has been delighting local people for a few weeks now. But why?

Can it be the story? Seymour, a geeky looking young man, was rescued from the streets by Mushnik the Florist only to find that he has become Mushnik's virtual slave. Nevertheless, when the shop is in trouble Seymour comes through by putting his pet plant, acquired from a shady character in Chinatown ("I think it's a flytrap or something"), on display as a traffic builder. And does it build traffic! And the traffic spends big money. And the plant begins to grow and we learn that it is a carnivore. Seymour finds this out when he pricks his finger on its spines.

Soon his fingers are all bandaged and he can't keep up with the plant's appetite. Queasy stuff. Is this what audience's want today? Then there's the subplot involving Audrey, Seymour's bimbette coworker, upon whom he has a crush. Audrey, however, is seeing Orin Valella, a sadistic dentist. Orin is the kind of dentist who takes the gas himself so that his feelings will be heightened as he relishes his patients' suffering. Sweeney Todd with a drill! After each date with Orin, Audrey comes in bandaged and bruised, handcuffs dangling from her purse. She knows this isn't normal but "he's the only guy who's interested," she thinks.

Seymour makes his move, confronts Orin, comes to terms with Mushnik, gets an offer to go on TV ... but the ending is too, too bizarre, but perversely funny as the show is overall. Taken individually, the elements seem unremarkable but taken together, this unexpected combination of the arch characters, the unsuspected floral menace, and the chorus of Skid Row Rockettes, seems to generate the excitement that audiences generally feel good about.

Mark's Heckman's Seymour is nicely done with attention to detail of gesture and posture that makes him quite believeable. Kevin Hanstick's Mushnik is the fussy penny-pinching shopkeeper that you would expect to see in a Skid Row Floral Shop.

Orin, the motorcycle riding dentist (the leader of the plaque), is played with sinister intent by Mitchell Davis. Wearing his Elvis wig and black leather jacket, and touting his S&M predilictions and his rusty implements, his Orin bring a twinge to our collective root canals.

The star of the show is the short-stepping, whining, soul searching woman called Audrey as played by Sue Fishkoff. Her bouffant hairdo, her mincing gait, her voice that could scratch glass, her Brooklyn accent ... on the surface a bimbo to the max. And yet there's more. She knows her life is dangerous and wrong. She tries to lift herself out of the gutter, but she says "I do have quite a past." Sue Fishkoff squeezes as much pathos as she can out of the role and it pays off. She's a treat to watch.

The Skid Row Rockettes are three young ladies who sing appropriate Sixties-type songs between scenes as ironic commentary.

Ronnette is played by Shelley Chaney Washington, Chiffon by Felicia Stevenson, and Crystal by Angela Zweigle. (Laura McEvoy stood in for Angela in the performance I saw.) These young ladies infuse the play with much wry energy. The voice of the carnivorous plant (yes, it sings and almost dances) is Daniel Lee Simpson. The body movements are done by Greg Tiller who also plays some bit parts in the show.

The plant, which is really a giant costume, was created by Lady Ramirez, Jay Vandinther and Blaine Yeates. Applause for all who made this effect work. Costuming for the humans was by Sherilyn Clark, (watch for Orin's special dental smock.) Rosanna Yadegari directed the strong musical ensemble. Choreography is by Laura Akard.

The clever set design is by Steve Judge, lighting design by Greg Coleman. There are a number of outrageous character wigs that came from James Giattine of Outer Edge.

TheatreFest is here to stay, I believe, now that GroveMont has bought its own tent. That's an encouraging prospect because they've been responsible for many years of summer festival fun in Monterey and I hope we see many, many more.

Little Shop of Horrors plays at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday through Sunday evenings.

THEATER REVIEW

By James P. Kinney

'Beyond Therapy' opens at the GroveMont

BEYOND THERAPY, a comedy about the pitfalls and pratfalls of modern psychotherapy, opened at the GroveMont Theater this past weekend.

The playwright, Christopher Durang, also wrote Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All for You, which was viewed about a year ago by this critic on the same GroveMont stage.

Bruce (Lewis Rhames) and Prudence (Lorraine Olsen) meet at a nondescript restaurant as the result of an ad Bruce has placed in a newspaper searching for Miss Right.

Prudence is put off at once by Bruce's blunt comments on the twin high points of her upper torso and his cheerful revelation that he is bisexual and likely to remain so.

Both are already in therapy and the action soon switches to the offices of Dr. Stuart Framingham (Jim Webber), a psychiatrist who is frantically neurotic about his own sexual inadequacies, and Dr. Charlotte Wallace, whose varied behavior suggests that she had graduated cum laude from some of the most prestigious funny farms in the country.

The plot thickens when Bruce brings Prudence home to meet Bob (Jerry Walker), his gay live-in lover. Before it is all over, Bruce drags Bob to the dotty Dr. Wallace's office as well, where he is encouraged professionally to take out his aggressions on Bruce and Prudence, but instead finds hope and solace for the future in the erotic gaze of Andrew (Samuel Seydel), a heavy leather waiter at the same seedy restaurant.

Durang obviously has a sensitive ear for modern psychiatric jargon and procedures and he savagely fleshes out his zany characters with behavior patterns and attitudes which pit them inevitably against mere reason and basic common sense. In doing this, of course, he hits close to the core of what ails much of contemporary America's affluent society.

This is as much farce as comedy, of course, and one can even detect faint echoes of the classic farce of Moliere and Voltaire in Durang's creations who have become victims of a psychiatric profession which has grown much too sacred and stuffy for its own (or anybody else's) good.

Durang's forte clearly lies in trashing intimidating sacred cows and he does it with glee and wild abandon. This is not great theater and it is not meant to be. However, I found this play, on the whole, more balanced and funnier than his Sister Ignatius, in which I felt his second act went far beyond debunking solemn cant and slid into what was vicious and humorless blasphemy. Even sanity requires that some things be sacred.

Beyond Therapy is simply staged, as it needs to be with the multiple scene changes such nonstop action requires. Use of a revolving stage made these changes less obtrusive than they might otherwise have been, though they were still somewhat annoying in the time consumed. One point for TV.

The cast, if anything, surpasses the material. Rhames' "Bruce" is sweetly empathetic as a wimpy, modern male who takes pride in his ambi-sexuality and his ability to weep on demand. Olsen, whose droopy eyelids and sad mouth suggest urban angst and neurosis with almost frightening clarity, brings to her "Prudence" the bleak introversion one often sees in women's faces on buses and in the ckeckout lines of supermarkets.

Jim Webber creates in his "Dr. Stuart" the stereotypical male psychiatrist who considers couch sex with his women patients as therapeutic for himself as for them. (Incidentally, whatever happened to that local dentist who supposedly had the two-way mirror installed facing his ladies' bathroom?)

Of Webber, I have noticed here and in earlier shows that this fine actor has more ticks in his face and body than 20 hounds after a month of chasing rabbits and ducks through dense coastal thickets. Onward Jim!

Pamela Murphy is absolutely hilarious as "Dr. Charlotte," a mental health professional who blocks on frequently used words and finds male homosexuality filthy and disgusting. Equally as funny is Jerry Walker's "Bob," the bitchy, twitchy, noisy homosexual most of us have met at one time or another at an otherwise sedate cocktail party or in the hamburger and fries order line of a McDonald's late at night.

Samuel Seydel, in what is listed as his acting debut, brings to the small role of "Andrew," the waiter, a solid, stolid performance. Director Felix Sola, I'm sure, deserves much of the credit for the crisp comic timing and sharp characterizations in this humorous, satisfying production.

Beyond Therapy runs through July 8, Thursdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m., Sundays at 7 p.m. For reservations and ticket information, call 646-4213 or 649-5561. You might consider catching this show before your next scheduled meeting with your therapist. The trip could prove cheaper and possibly, even more, well, therapeutic.

Five separate races comprise busy Laguna Seca weekend

THE TOYOTA MONTEREY Motor Sports Jamboree roars into action at Laguna Seca Raceway this Friday through Sunday, June 29-July 1.

The Escort World Challenge tops the action with Round 3 of the nine race tour. An entirely new series this season, the Escort World Challenge has combined the best of last year's Escort Endurance Championship and the Corvette Challenge into one event.

Showcasing two classes, the World Challenge and the Super Production class, this event now offers the best-of-the-best. With the new rules, the once dominannt Corvette is back. However, all will not be smooth sailing for this ever-popular vehicle as it faces serious opposition from the Lotus Esprit, the Mazda RX 7 turbos, the Nissan 300ZX twin turbos, the Ford Mustang, the Porsche 944 turbo and 911 Carrera and more.

The highly competitive Super Production class adds Honda CRXs, Acura Legends, Mazda Miatas, Eagle Talons, Dodge Shelby, Chevrolet Baretta GTZs, Oldsmobile Cutlass Calais and more to the field, allowing spectators to view the performance of some of the best racing vehicles in the world.

Joining in the racing frenzy are the fast Toyota Atlantic open-wheel cars. This Pacific Division series is one of the best proving grounds for future Indy Car drivers. graduates include such greats as Bobby Rahal, Kevin Cogan, Danny Sullivan, Michael Andretti and Geoff Brabham, to name just a few. In fact, last year's champion, Hiro Matsushita, is now a member of Dick Simon's Indy Car team.

As always this year's series brings forth a legion of driving talent speeding towards the forefront like Mark Dismore, Mike Berg and Bob Lobenberg.

When the green flag drops, all the open-wheeled cars are the same...all powered by identical 1600cc Toyota multi-valve engines. Therefore, it is the drivers' skills that make the difference. with the possibility of an Indy Car ride looming in the future, each competitor is more determined than ever to prove who is the best.

Making its first appearance at Laguna Seca Raceway will be one of America's hottest racing events - The Truck Guard/Shellzone Challenge. A professional, nationwide road racing series for pickup trucks, the daring antics of the drivers and their vehicles has been heralded around the country.

Doorhandle-to-doorhandle racing will definitely be the theme as a full field of Jeeps, Nissans, Fords, Mazdas and more blast off the startline in an all-out attempt to take the coveted Checkered Flag.

Leading the fray will be defending champion, Ray Kong of San Jose, CA. in a Nissan. But former champions, Bobby and Tommy Archer of Duluth, Minnesota, have firm plans of taking the win. Adding to the action will also be the talents of off-road champion Spencer Low, top independent Chuck Hemminson, racing entrepreneur Steve Saleen who triumphed at the first race of the season, new Mazda entrants P.D. Cunningham and Chet Fillip, Calvin Fish and a host of other well-known names.

There's more on Laguna's racing card as NAPA Auto Parts/Champion presents the American City Racing League. Rivalry and battles between cities is nothing new, however, the American City Racing League has given birth to an all new battleground...the race track!

Which city has the fastest team? Is it San Francisco? San Jose? Oakland? Sacramento? Las Vegas? Fresno? Los Angeles? Phoenix? San Diego? Portland? Reno? Last year Las Vegas won the battle—this year could indeed tell a different story.

Catch Olympic gold and silver medal ski sensations Phil and Steve Mahre as they fight for victory for Team Reno. Last year these well-known twins took second! Can they better it this time?

Rounding out the action-packed, fun-filled weekend is the National Sport Sedan Championship Series (NASPORT) presented by Kodalux Processing Services.

Sparks will fly as these sleek sports coupe racers streak for the Checkered Flag. With GT3s and GT4s running under the same rules. Thrills will abound as Toyota Corollas, Ford Probes, Nissan 200 SXs and Mazda RX-3s all make a dash for the win.

And not only will the toyota Monterey motorsports Jamboree provide some of the best racing ever seen in Monterey county but Saturday evening we will present the Toyota Jamboree Barbecue. For $5, courtesy of Toyota, you can eat your fill of tri-tip, salad and beans and then join in the festivities and dance to the music of the Robert Berry Band. During the daytime, you can take a stroll down the midway and see the latest and best in new products or just sit on the hillside and enjoy the action. Bring a picnic lunch, enjoy the warm summer weather and watch racing action never before seen at this race track.

For ticket information call Laguna Seca Raceway at 648-5100 or, toll free in California at 1-800-367-9939. Outside California call, toll free, 1-800-372-7322. Tickets are also available at Bass/TicketMaster or Ticketron. Children under 12 are admitted free. All tickets include general admission, paddock and open grandstand seating. Camping is available.

Benefit screening premieres film of Steinbeck short story

MAC AND AVA Motion Picture Productions of Monterey is premiering a 22-minute color film entitled The Raid, a short story taken from The Long Valley by John Steinbeck.

This film is the first in a series of three educational films produced by Mac and Ava Motion Picture Productions. It is designed to be used in high school and college classrooms.

The premiere will take place at The Steinbeck Forum in The Monterey Conference Center on Friday, June 29. Hors d'oeuvres and wine will be served. In addition to the premiere there will also be an auction to help benefit Bruce Ariss and his family that same evening. A poster created by Bruce Arris for the film, The Raid, will be one of the art pieces in the auction. In addition, there will be a special piece by Gordon Newell.

Due to the recent loss that Bruce Ariss and his family have experienced, other local artists have joined their efforts to add to the auction. All monies raised during the auction will go directly to the family.

Doors open at 6:30 p.m. for the screening at 7. Tickets are available through Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561; or the Mac and ava office, 646-9532. Donation is $50 per person.

Early registration advised for fall semester at MPC

BEAT CROWDED classrooms and crowded parking lots. Monterey Peninsula College encourages students to schedule their general education courses for the afternoon hours this fall.

Six courses that meet general education requirements for Associate Arts degrees and transfer to four-year colleges and universities will be offered between 1 and 4:30 p.m. during the fall semester that runs from Aug. 27 through Dec. 20.

Afternoon courses include Algebra: A First Course, and Intermediate Algebra and Coordinate Geometry which meet daily Monday through Friday; English Composition, and Literature and Composition on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; Public Speakng on Mondays and Wednesdays, and American Government on Tuesdays and Thursdays. All these courses offer three units of credit.

Students can enroll for up to 12 units in the afternoon. A load of 12 units makes a student eligible for financial aid and will go a long way toward meeting general education requirements for the Associate degree and for transfer to the four-year school.

Plans call for continuing the afternoon program in subsequent semesters with other offerings which will allow a student to complete a degree program, according to Jack Bessire, vice president of Instruction and Student Services at MPC.

"We believe that more afternoon classes will provide hassle-free parking and less campus congestion for students. Scheduling of more afternoon classes also maximizes better use of the college facilities," Bessire said.

Bessire added that prospective students who work a night shift might find it more convenient to attend classes in the afternoon.

Copies of the Fall Schedule of Classes are now available on the MPC campus. Mail-in registration for the fall semester will continue until July 27. In-person registration is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 18, and from noon to 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 20 and 21. For information, call the MPC Admissions and Records Office, 646-4002.

JAZZ TIDES

By John Detro

A certain justice

RARE OCCASION: Just as it surely should, jazz will play a role when Nelson Mandela greets many thousands at Oakland Coliseum on Saturday afternoon (6/30). The South African leader and wife Winnie chose to end their 10-day, eight-city tour of the United States in the other Bay Area.

Thus a certain justice maintains. This column recently carried some words by South African trumpet star Hugh Masekela: freedom-seeking townships found major role models amongst North American jazz adepts.

Organizers want the Coliseum gathering to be a people's bash. Ducats cost $5 apiece and Ticketmaster handles requests. Mandela's speech has been scheduled somewhere between noon and one o'clock.

Producer Bill Graham took on the booking of talent for that scene. Editors and critics might pry names out of his staff, but Bill's intention was to not identify acts.

"The focus should be on Nelson Mandela," Graham told me during a telephone chat. "If I can hold the line, specific bands won't be identified beforehand. Jazz? Of course. We'll bring in jazz, blues, gospel, some Latin — music that has African roots."

Coordinators announced as well a "women's event" at four o'clock in Berkeley Community Theater. Winnie Mandela will be there along with writer Alice Walker and Angela Davis.

Over in Palo Alto, pioneering dance troupe leader Katherine Dunham has been holding a series of no-cost discussions under sponsorship of Stanford's Committee on Black Performing Arts. Next meetings will be held at the Roble Gym Lounge. Topics: touring (7/5) and her work with Alvin Ailey (7/11).

On July 24, Miss Dunham will be joined by post-modern choreographer Ralph Lemon at Stanford's Braun Rehearsal Hall. They'll talk about "the black choreographer's perspective" and "the problems of making dance." Starts at 7:30.

Meanwhile, Random House has issued the latest book of

Carl Jung enthusiasts gather

An opportunity to discover how a veteran Jungian analyst made applications of Jung's ideas in his daily life will be open to prticipants at the workshop titled "Reflections on Chance, Fate, and Synchronicity." It begins at 7 p.m., June 29 at All Saints' Church, Ninth and Dolores, Carmel.

Sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Friends of C.G. Jung, the workshop will use the essay of that title by Gerhard Adler, who practiced in London for many years before his death in 1988. It is a highly personal document, and will give participants an "insider's view" of how Dr. Adler experienced his faith in Jung's ideas.

He provides examples which illustrate how "All chance is miraculous, the touch of a higher being, a problem, evidence of the active religious essence." This and other quotes from the essay will launch inner work of participants and small group discussions.

The public is invited to this and all other meetings of the Friends of C.G. Jung. This is an informal collection of people who are sharing an enthusiasm for the Swiss physician's writings. Prior registration is not required, nor is a suggested voluntary donation.

For further details, call or write: 649-8809; 899 Drake Ave., Monterey.

Italian designs return to Concours

Car buffs looking for a repeat of last year's popular Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance which featured American dream cars and rare Italian coachwork will get their wish.

Concours officials have announced this year's event, set for Aug. 19 at The Lodge at Pebble Beach, will showcase Detroit's futuristic designs from the 1950s and 1960s and an "Italian Carrozzeria" display that will include the De Tomaso Mangusta Spyder, Lamborghini 354 GT Spyder and Lancia Blue Ray II.

None of the rare cars were shown at Pebble Beach last year, according to co-chairmen Jules Heumann and Lorin Tryon, both of San Francisco.

The Pebble Beach Concours, now in its 40th year, benefits United Way of the Monterey Peninsula and Pebble Beach Foundation.

Advance ticket information can be obtained by writing Pebble Beach Company, Special Events Department, P.O. Box 567, Pebble Beach, CA 93953 or by calling 649-2724.

• John Kelly also put together Carmel Park Festival 1990. This series commences at noon Friday (6/29) in Devendorf Park. Papa Jake's gang playing for an hour and a half. Freebie.

• Jake fronts sets at Shanty Malone's (Valley Hills Center) Saturday through Tuesday evenings. Don't forget the knockout Holehouse Blues Band on Thursday nights at Cancun (The Crossroads). Call Cherry Hall (624-7491) for details on the Third Thursday Jazz Series presented through September by eclectic Nick williams and pals. Bassist Norm Ross leads on Thursday and Saturday nights at The Firehouse in downtown Monterey. Monterey Peninsula Jazz Orchestra still ignites Monday nights at Mission Ranch Barn. (Deep breath. There's more.)

• Monterey Plaza Hotel's Jazz on the Bay series brings in the Ace Hill Trio for Sunday (7/1 noon till four). No cover; no minimum. MONTEREY BAY Blues Festival felt festive last weekend at the fairgrounds. Gone was the nervous over-control of just one year ago. The new security outfit treated partying thousands with respect. Board members actually smiled as they took care of business by letting the fifth annual edition find its preferred shape.

Upfront, my concerns about restrictions on the media were met with not resentment but generosity. One couldn't ask for greater freedom of movement. Other writers looked happy as sunroom cats in the press area overseen by Will Wallace.

Arena programming featured old pros — Albert King's dignity showed why the art form remains so powerful — and each won collective approval. Biggest stories occurred on the Garden Stage: new faces who simply blew away the grounds admission crowd.

The Paul Soderman Band from Colorado performed two brilliant sets on Saturday. Vocalist Paul said he admired Delbert McClinton — and then demonstrated charisma and lyrics that were entirely his own. "Got a hole in my soul ... that's where cold wind comes blowin' through." Saxist Charles McNeal supported such bare statements with literally shocking facility.

Sacramento's Johnny Heartsman hit deep grooves on guitar, organ, flute. His long set also brought forth Japanese blues singer Takezo (strong-voiced young man who lives in Berkeley these days) and Miss Arbess Williams. No tricks, no showbiz blather — she's a vocalist of oldtime values and gospel depth. Real commitment, purpose, joy.

The word went out like sheet lightning. Don't be surprised if both the Soderman crew and Heartsman Revue work the main stage next year. (Paul's already booked into the 1990 Monterey Jazz Festival.) And Garden Stage MC Buddy Lowe surely deserves consideration for similar advancement.

On Sunday afternoon, the Garden Stage held living history — 67-year-old Charles Brown. The venerable vocalist and keyboardist delighted this packed area with a survey of past hits. He told truth when he said: "Bonnie Raitt picked me to go on the road with her; she knows where the roots are." Afterwards, autograph-seekers wouldn't let this great performer leave for quite some time.

Other highlights: Charlie Musselwhite's hot set. Superb tenorist Clifford Solomon behind Charles Brown. The gutsy trombone player for Junior Wells (who's a very funny man along with his other talents.) The tremendously effective raps of Miami soul singer Betty Wright — she set up audience-wide arena chants that had women and men confessing mutual pain. Bobby Blue Bland's octet playing straight-ahead jazz. The crowd's obvious affection for Bobby.

BEHIND BARS — The painter contacted your jazz columnist with a plea for exposure. He's an inmate...self-taught artist of the state prison system. James would like to do album covers and/or achieve gallery representation. Anyone wishing details may contact John Detro through this newspaper.

Monterey Bay TheatreFest

The county's highest attendance cultural event, the Monterey Bay TheatreFest moves into full swing this weekend, offering both full-scale shows and admission-free performances.

TheatreFest has several settings. Largest is the "Big Top" tent located in the Upper Custom House Plaza at the top of Fisherman's Wharf on the waterfront in Monterey. Here showgoers can see Little Shop of Horrors through mid-July. Man of La Mancha will be staged there July 18 through Aug. 12. Admission is charged for Big Top performances, which are listed separately here.

TheatreFest also comes to life on its Main Stage, located adjacent to the Pacific House in the Lower Custom House Plaza. Here productions will be staged Saturdays and Sundays through Aug. 5.

The Main Stage schedule begins with the following "Fairy Tale Theater" productions:

11 a.m., The Fisherman and His Wife. This and all other Fairy Tale Theater offerings are adapted and directed by John Rousseau, featuring "fractured" fairy tales with modern twists.

11:15 a.m., Rumplestiltskin.

Noon, The Emperor's New Clothes.

12:30 p.m., Jack and the Beanstalk.

At 1 p.m. weekends on the Main Stage, TheatreFest presents the sixth annual Human Chess Game. Stephen Moorer directs the improvisational/stage combat production, an audience favorite.

At 2 p.m., the Monterey Opera Association takes the Main Stage with The Music Master, a comic opera sung in English. It is directed by Kelly Alexander.

Admission-free productions are also presented weekends in the Memory Garden, located behind the Pacific House. The schedule for the Memory Garden is as follows:

3 p.m., The Swaggering Soldier, a farce by the ancient Roman playwright Plautus, is directed by Marcia Hovick.

4:30 p.m., The Forced Marriage, by Moliere, is directed by Norman Stottmeister.

Throughout the Main Stage schedule, magician Roy Slater, juggler/comedian Chris Heimer and a variety of area musicians will entertain between shows. A variety of food and drink will also be available. Also available will be TheatreFest souvenirs, ranging from beer tankards and coffee mugs to sun visors and bleacher cushions. All concession and merchandising revenue will benefit the TheatreFest's admission-free productions.

For additional information, call 649-6852.

Beyond Therapy

Playwright Christopher Durang humorously trashes psychiatry in Beyond Therapy. The author of Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All for You probes our modern notions of psychiatric gurus, sexual roles, the singles scene and male/-female stereotypes.

The comedy is staged at the GroveMont Theater Arts Center, 320 Hoffman (at Lighthouse) in New Monterey.

Felix Sola directs Beyond Therapy. The cast includes Lorraine M. Olsen, Lewis Rhames, Pamela Murphy and Jerry Walker.

Beyond Therapy continues at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 7 p.m. Sundays until July 21. Admission is $9.50 on Fridays and Saturdays $8 for students, senior citizens and the military. On Thursdays and Sunday, admission is $1 less. For more information or reservations, call 649-6852 or 649-5561.

Dames at Sea

An affectionate tribute to '30s movie musicals, Dames at Sea focuses on wide-eyed Ruby, who stumbles into New York with neon in her eyes and a song in her heart: "I just got off the bus and I'm going to be a Broadway star." The Western Stage presents Dames at Sea in its Main Stage theater.

The musical features book and lyrics by George Haimsohn and Robin Miller plus music by Jim Wise. In the Busby Berkeley tradition, Dames at Sea is populated with tap dancing chorines and back-stage romance.

Dames at Sea plays at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday, July 1.

Single tickets are $12.50 to $14.50, and season tickets are also available. For reservations, call 375-2111 or 649-5561.

A Long Day's Journey into Night

Eugene O'Neill's "play of old sorrow, written in tears and blood," is directed by Cole Weston and is the opening play in a summer of productions staged by the Forest Theater Guild at Carmel's Outdoor Forest Theater.

A Long Day's Journey into Night takes its cues from the author's own family. O'Neill requested that it be withheld from the public until 25 years after his death.

The Forest Theater Guild staging of this drama features Rosemary Thompson as Mary, Alan Smith as James, Craig Dunbar as Edmund, David Miller as Jamie and Lisa McKaney as Cathleen.

Curtain is at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays through Sundays through July 1. Tickets are $10 general, $8 for students, military and senior citizens.

The Outdoor Forest Theater is at Mountain View and Santa Rita in Carmel-by-the-Sea. Be sure to dress warmly.

For additional information or reservations, call 626-1681 or 649-5561.

Little Shop of Horrors

Kicking off the summer season in the "Big Top Tent" at the Monterey Bay TheatreFest is the musical, Little Shop of Horrors. Howard Ashman and Alan Menken composed this love story about a man, a woman and a plant named Audrey II. Andrey II likes to eat people, sing and dance. A '60s "Girl Group" chorus adds to the fun.

Little Shop of Horrors, staged by the GroveMont and Fort Ord Cabaret theaters, is directed by Jim Sutty. It runs at 8:30 p.m. Thursdays through Sundays.

The tent is located in Monterey's historic Upper Custom House Plaza, located at the top of Fisherman's Wharf on the waterfront in Monterey.

Tickets are $10 general, $8 for students and seniors and, $5 for children under 12 and GroveMont Season Ticket Holders. For details, call 649-6852.

The Velveteen Rabbit

The Velveteen Rabbit, a children's musical based on the story by Margery Williams, concludes its run in the SRO Theatre at Monterey Peninsula College.

Don Porter directs the production, which runs approximately one hour.

Curtain is at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday and also at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday through July 1.

Tickets, at $4.50 each, may be reserved by calling the MPC box office, 646-4213, between 4 and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, or Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561, Tuesday through Saturday.

Parents are requested not to bring infants or toddlers to the performance.

Monica Harle performs

Pianist Monica Harle, whose musical stylings range from classical to light jazz, is appearing from 6 to 9 p.m., Saturday through Tuesday and with the Monica Harle Trio from 9 p.m.-midnight, Fridays and Saturdays at the Highlands Inn Fireside Lobby.

Describing herself as a "musician's musician," Harle has accompanied many concert and recording artists, among them cellist Peter Rejto. A graduate of the University of Washington, she later joined the faculty of California State University at Northridge, accompanying the string department at the college and throughout the Los Angeles area. Fluent in four languages, she also earned her master's degree in international business at the Monterey Institute of International Studies.

Music, she says, is "just another language," which she uses to communicate soulful songs by Stevie Wonder, tunes from American musicals and jazz standards.

Also performing with Harle Friday and Saturday nights are Terry Miller, playing six-string electric bass, and percussionist Joe Gershin.

Pianist Jonathon Lee continues his sunset hour performances Wednesday through Fridays from 6 to 9 p.m. Describing his classically influenced style as "soothing, easy on the ear," Lee is a successful composer and self-taught pianist who, remarkably, has never learned to read music.

His cassettes and CD's are sold across the country and now in Europe at a rate of about 18,000 a month. Locally, the Monterey Bay Aquarium includes his music on an oceanic video shown to visitors, and the Community Hospital plays it to relax patients before surgery.

For more information, phone 624-3801.

The Drunkard

The wages of drink are outlined in The Drunkard, when a totally respectable Edward Middleton becomes downtrodden after being tempted with drink. Of course, as in all good melodramas, all ends well with Edward back in the loving arms of his family. The title role will be played by Richard Barrett, noted Monterey Peninsula theater personage.

California's First Theatre is the setting for The Drunkard. The theater, the oldest in the state, is located at the corner of Scott and Pacific streets in historic downtown Monterey.

Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for seniors and teens and $4 for subteens. The theater box office is open 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays and 1 to 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

For tickets or information, call 375-4916 or 649-5561.

ROUNDUP

Opera rehearsals begin

The Monterey Opera Association has begun rehearsals for two fall productions. The group meets 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays in Room M-1 at Monterey Peninsula College.

Singers will rehearse Puccini's first opera, Le Villi, and Menotti's Ahmal and the Night Visitors. Some roles are available, as well as places in the chorus. Anyone interested in participating is invited to join the class.

This is a regular workshop class sponsored by Monterey Peninsula College. Students may receive college credit or not, as they prefer.

For information or an audition, call 899-8494.

Free tours offered of observatory

Free tours of the Oliver Observing Station run by the Monterey Institute for Research in Astronomy at Chews Ridge will be offered on the following Sunday afternoons at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.:

July 8, Aug. 5, Sept. 9 and Oct. 14 (weather permitting).

Reservations must be made and space is limited. To make a reservation and obtain map and instructions, call the MIRA office at 375-3220.

Founded in 1972, MIRA is one of very few independent professional observatories in the United States. MIRA's 36-inch telescope, state-of-the-art instrumentation and unusual observatory building combine to permit the rapid acquisition of high quality data. MIRA astronomers are engaged in a wide variety of projects from the study of the birth, life and death of stars, to comets sweeping through the solar system.

Bring own water to Molera Park

Drinking or potable water is no longer available in the Andrew Molera State Park, located on the Big Sur Coast.

In the past, potable water was provided by "water buffalos." The old military metal water tanks on wheels no longer meet state health standards for drinking water and have been removed from the park.

Campers and day users should plan on bringing their own drinking water. Drinking water is available at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park and Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park.

For further information, contact the Big Sur District Office at 667-2315.

Use toll-free line for park reservations

There is a toll-free telephone number for making reservations at California State Parks through the MISTIX reservation system — 1-800-444-7275.

Reservations from out-of-state callers will still be made through the toll number of 1-619-452-1950.

The toll-free number is not only for state park camping reservations, but also for Hearst Castle tours.

Sunset Center seeks your opinions

Would you like to offer suggestions for programming to be offered at Sunset Center in Carmel?

Now in the process of forming is an "at large" advisory group to the Carmel Community and Cultural Commission's Program Committee. The group will propose new programs, suggest long-term series, activities and programs for a broad spectrum of audiences.

To learn more about this group, contact the Director's Office at Sunset Center, 624-3996, and leave your name and telephone number.

Learn to detect breast cancer

"The New Mammography: Breast Cancer Detection and Diagnosis for the '90s" will be presented from 12:15 to 2:15 p.m. Thursday, July 19 in Lecture Forum 102 at Monterey Peninsula College.

The guest speaker will be Edward Sickles, professor of radiology and chief of the Breast Imaging Section at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

Dr. Sickles is known for his rapport with his audiences and his willingness to answer all questions from his listeners.

This educational event is sponsored by MPC Health Services and the Mammography Center of Monterey with assistance from the MPC Medical Assisting program.

The program is invited to the public, as well as MPC students, faculty and staff. Participants are invited to bring their lunch.

Seniors receive free health checks

Free health check-ups for older adults are offered by the SCANS (Senior Citizen and Nursing Services) program of the Monterey County Health Department. Persons over age 55 are eligible.

Appointments are required for the screenings, which are offered in Carmel at the Presbyterian Church; in Pacific Grove at the community center, 515 Junipero and at the Sally Judd Griffin Senior Center, 700 Jewell Ave., in New Monterey at the New Monterey Neighborhood Center.

To schedule an appointment, call 899-8100.
